Kids killed as bus hit by a train on crossing

FIFTY children aged four to six years old and the driver of the school bus they were on were killed when their vehicle was hit by a train in central Egypt yesterday.

The country's transport minister resigned in the wake of the crash near Manfalut, 230 miles south of Cairo. The head of the railway authority has also handed in his notice.

A provincial governor said the man in charge of the crossing was asleep and had been arrested.

Egyptian roads and railways have a poor safety record – some 8,000 people die in car accidents each year in the country.

An eyewitness said the train pushed the bus about half a mile along the track. More than a dozen people were also injured.

Eyewitnesses said the barriers were open when the bus crossed the tracks.

Comet stores have a month

STRICKEN electricals retail chain Comet will close 41 stores by the end of the month unless a buyer can be found, it has been confirmed.

Redundancies were "inevitable" although administrators Deloitte said they would look to place staff from closing stores into one nearby.

Up to 500 jobs could be under threat at 27 of the stores where closing down sales have begun.

Deloitte had already announced 330 redundancies at the company but there have been no job losses among shop staff as yet and all the chain's 236 stores remain open at present.

GAZA STRIPPED: Precision strike by Israelis leaves militants Hamas headquarters a pile of rubble

HAMAS HAMMERED

BLAST: Plume of smoke hangs over target

Militant HQ flattened by Israel air strike

ISRAEL has targeted the headquarters of Hamas leaders and other key facilities in Gaza on the fourth day of Israeli air strikes in the territory.

Prime Minister Ismail Haniya's office, which Egypt's PM had visited on Friday, was among the buildings destroyed.

At least 39 Palestinians and three Israelis have died since Israel killed Hamas's military chief on Wednesday.

The Israeli military did not provide a detailed account of its overnight targets, but said more than 180 sites were struck – making a total of more than 800 since the operation began.

Israeli aircraft also kept pounding their original targets, the militants' weapons storage facilities and underground rocket launching sites.

The military has called up thousands of reservists and massed troops, tanks and other armoured vehicles along the border with Gaza, signalling a ground invasion could be imminent.

justin@sundaysport.co.uk

Militants – undaunted by the heavy damage the Israeli attacks have inflicted – have unleashed some 500 rockets at the Jewish state, including new long-range weapons turned for the first time this week against the Holy City of Jerusalem and the heart of Tel Aviv.

Following the attacks, the military deployed their Iron Dome rocket defences.

The system, devised precisely to deflect the Gaza rocket threat, is being used two months earlier than planned, the Defence Ministry said.

Palestinian militants in Gaza kept up their cross-border rocket salvoes.

One rocket hit an apartment building in the Mediterranean port city of Ashdod, ripping into several balconies, and police said five civilians were injured.

Hamas, the Palestinian Islamist group that runs the Gaza Strip, said Israeli missiles wrecked the office of Prime Minister Ismail Haniyeh – where he had met on Friday with the Egyptian leader – and struck a police HQ.

Ten people, including eight militants, were killed and dozens were wounded in the various attacks yesterday, Gaza health official Ashraf al-Kidra claimed.

"We are sending a simple message: There is no security for any Zionist on any single inch of Palestine and we plan more surprises," said Abu Obeida, a spokesman for Hamas.

TODAY'S WEATHER

ALMOST wall-to-wall sunshine on Sunday, with any rain confined to the west of Scotland and a bit in north west England.

Elsewhere, clear blue skies to look out at while you're sat indoors in the warm.

A maximum temperature of 10C in the south west of England but elsewhere it will struggle to get into double figures, so now might be the time to dig out the thermals.

Monday, it will all turn to shite again with dull cloud covering much of the country and great dollops of heavy rain in the south west of England.

Maybe a bit of sunshine will appear to perk up the northern half of Scotland but as it's only daylight in the north of the country for about three-and-a-half minutes at this time of year, that won't add up to much.

There's every chance it will be a few degrees warmer than Sunday but in the dank rain, you'll scarcely notice.

OUTLOOK: Mixed.

Beeb boss is 'thrilled' at Need's £27m

THE chairwoman of Children In Need said she is "surprised" but "thrilled" after the appeal raised almost £27million during this year's live show, beating the 2011 total.

Despite a "tough year", Stevie Spring expressed her delight as the charity event – hosted by Sir Terry Wogan, Tess Daly and Fearne Cotton – "pulled out all the stops", to raise £26,757,446 over the course of a seven-hour live entertainment show.

The embattled corporation, which is dealing with the fallout of the Jimmy Savile sex scandal and botched Newsnight investigation, raised £26.3million during the 2011 live show, with the total growing to £46.9million after the big night.

Speaking on BBC Breakfast, Ms Spring said: "I'm surprised and absolutely thrilled, I couldn't be more thrilled.

"I think it was absolutely amazing."

Dr's thanks to girl Who found script

A DOCTOR Who fan found a top secret script in the back of a taxi – and returned it to make sure the plot wasn't leaked.

Honest Hannah Durham, 20, was on a night out with pals when she found a storyline for the BBC sci-fi in the back of a cab.

But she resisted the temptation to have a sneak preview of the Doctor's adventures and returned it to the show's production team.

Hannah said: "I glanced at it enough to see that it was a script and saw the title – The Last Cyberman.

"But I didn't feel the urge to read through it or copy it, I'm happy to have helped out the show."

English Lit student Hannah goes to University in Cardiff where scenes for the TV series are shot.

And she was thanked by scriptwriter Neil Gaiman for returning the document which was left in the taxi by an actress.

He wrote on Twitter: "A world-sized pat on the back to Hannah."

TAKE ME OUT'S BUSTIEST BABE GOES TOPLESS AND TALKS SEX

AFTER FILMING IT'S WALL TO WALL BONKING!

THE BUSTIEST-EVER star of TV's Take Me Out has lifted the lid on the show's kinky BED-HOPPING secrets.

Pretty Natalie Hawker says rampant contestants on the ITV1 dating show were bonking each other's brains out behind the scenes.

Top-heavy Natalie, whose enormous 30GG breasts won armies of admirers, reckons several girls were left in tears after learning their male 'dates' had been having it off with other babes taking part.

And the stunning blonde, 26, admits that even producers took to dubbing the wild shagging antics 'Take Me Out incest'.

Bouncy Natalie, who poses here TOPLESS EXCLUSIVELY for Sunday Sport as she launches her boobs-out glamour career, revealed: "It was a complete free-for-all.

EXCLUSIVE
By NEIL GOODWIN

"Everyone was bonking behind each other's backs. The lads were shagging as many of the female contestants as they could, it didn't matter who they were supposed to be going on a 'date' with.

"And it led to a lot of arguments and cat fights behind the scenes. It was like incest! Even the producers were shocked."

Sexy Natalie, who's from Bristol, is so far refusing to name names. But the mum-of-two, who ended up bagging a date to the isle of Fernandos with 22-year-old toyboy Sam, says she's one of the few who DIDN'T get a bunk-up.

Natalie revealed how the sexual tension was ramped to mad levels as the girls were cooped-up in a hotel in Maidstone, Kent, for ten days straight.

She explained: "The first 10 days of filming was like a prison camp. We weren't allowed out without a chaperone, not even to the shops.

"So when everyone was finally let off the leash we all went mental! A lot of us were feeling very horny.

"And that's when the bed-hopping started. Girls were crying in corners, or screaming at each other, 'You slept with my date!' It was wall to wall bonking."

But Natalie, a former competitive figure skater, says that while ITV1 turned a blind eye to the bonks, they ordered her to COVER UP her charms.

She slammed: "I'd turn up in little sundresses, and they'd say, 'You can't wear that – it's too booby!'."

Cops in hunt for sex pest release red hot e-fit pic

ONE of the more unusual e-fit pictures ever released by police shows this carrot-topped man who is wanted for a sex assault on a woman in the street.

The 58-year-old victim had been on her way to work when she was approached by the red-headed stranger, who grabbed her.

The mac-wearing pervert then indecently touched the frightened woman and made inappropriate remarks before running away.

She told police in Portsmouth, Hants, the man was aged between 25 and 30 years, had scruffy dark ginger hair and a scruffy beard, was around 5ft 8ins tall, slim wearing a light brown mac.

A police spokesman sais: "We would appeal to anybody who has information to come forward."

Bottle o' beer sought after violent attack

POLICE are hunting a drinker dressed as a bottle of beer after a violent pub attack.

Officers said they were keen to trace the man (above) after an early hours assault left a victim needing stitches for a facial injury.

A spokesman for Sussex Police said the "nasty" attack happened in the early hours of the morning in French's bar in Hastings, East Sussex.

As photo emerges of jihadi loon with Top of the Pops nonce, SUNDAY Sport asks...

JIM'LL FIX IT FOR ABU: Qatada's apparent friendship with Savile could speed up his exit

NOW CAN WE CHUCK HIM OUT?

GIVE HIM THE BOOT: Abu Qatada and his crap trainers have stayed on these shores for too long

IS this the picture that could finally send potty preacher Abu Qatada back to Jordan to face terror charges?

Because plotting jihad, or boasting you're Osama bin Laden's right-hand man is one thing – sharing a settee with Britain's most-notorious nonce is quite another.

Relaxing in his horribly-decorated Leeds flat, Savile drapes a crime-stained arm around the so-called holy man – whose firebrand speeches are thought to have inspired the 9/11 hijackers.

The picture has been passed anonymously to Sunday Sport along with the information that it was taken "in Leeds, in 1997".

We have not been able to verify if the picture is 100 per cent genuine but Sunday Sport's picture editor, Mark Tate, declared: "If this is a forgery it is the best I have seen in almost 20 years in the business.

"It is simply seamless. If this is a fake, it uses technology that would only be available to government agencies – the security forces and such like.

"The most feasible explanation is that this photograph is real."

If the photograph was real, it could finally lead to Qatada quitting Britain and taking his chances in a Jordanian court.

By SIMON DEAN
simon@sundaysport.co.uk

Security expert Barrington Foster said: "Qatada has the hide of an elephant. He remains in Britain despite the fact that everyone wants him gone.

"But any association with a nonce on the scale of Jimmy Savile may make the UK too hot for him and he'll scuttle off to Jordan."

Forged

Qatada arrived in the UK in 1993 on a forged United Arab Emirates passport and was granted political asylum.

In 1997 he was at liberty and may have met Savile, who would have been 71 at the time.

It is known he built contacts with radical groups operating in Algeria at this time.

But until today, there was no suggestion of any links to white-haired kiddy-diddler Savile.

The Prime Minister has declared himself "completely fed up" with 52-year-old Abu Qatada as the radical cleric arrived home amid angry protests after an immigration appeals tribunal ruled he could not be deported to Jordan to face terror charges, and freed him on bail.

David Cameron said: "I am completely fed up with the fact this man is still at large in our country.

Convention

"We have moved heaven and earth to try to comply with every single dot and comma of every single convention to get him out of our country.

"It is extremely frustrating and I share the British people's frustration with the situation."

Home Secretary Theresa May (above) has already stated that the government will appeal on a matter of law.

SUNDAY Sport SAYS...

OUR nation has a proud reputation as an island where speech is free and opinion is unfettered.

But the ravings of Abu Qatada and his like push our liberal tradition to breaking point. And when he plays our legal system like a mizmar in a souk, we are right to feel our patience is being tested.

That patience runs out the moment we find that Qatada has been consorting with the likes of Jimmy Savile.

With luck, and God's grace, this picture could be Qatada's ticket out of Britain.

Jail for cop who had sex with victims

A "PREDATORY" ex-police officer has been jailed after he had sex with two VICTIMS of crime he met on duty.

Simon Jones, 33, met both women through his job – and even romped with one in his UNIFORM.

Jones (above), who has since resigned from the force, met the first victim after police were called to her house because of trouble with her ex-partner.

He gave the woman his mobile number and they kept in contact via more than 1,000 texts between March and May last year.

But the relationship then became physical and Jones, of the Nottinghamshire force, would visit the mum-of-two for sex at her home in Mansfield.

His misconduct was only reported when a vulnerable woman complained about the Worksop-based PC after he'd had sex with her.

Jones, now of Newport in South Wales, pleaded guilty to two counts of misconduct.

He was sentenced to two years in prison at Nottingham Crown Court.

I RECEIVED a blank text from my wife. When I got in, I said, 'Why did you send me a blank text?'. She said, 'Because I'm not talking to you!'.

Dog poo man off his trolley

A MAN has been fined almost £1,500 after health officers found a shopping trolley full of DOG POO in his garden.

Simon Grant, 28, let his backyard become so full of faeces that neighbours couldn't sit in their gardens for the smell.

A court heard he was served with environmental health notices to clean up the mess, but ignored them.

Officers were forced to call professionals to clean up the back garden TWICE – on one occasion finding "a significant amount of waste, including a shopping trolley full of rubbish and faeces."

Grant was found guilty in his absence of five charges of failing to comply with Environmental Protection Act notices.

Nottingham JPs fined him £600 with £860.88 costs and a £15 victim surcharge.

Former escort cleared of £500k hooker racket

A FORMER call girl wept in the dock after she was cleared of heading up a £500,000 prostitution racket.

Marie McKinlay, 40, was said to have employed dozens of high-class hookers and used a website called Agency Allure to hide a vice ring that made her more than £350,000.

McKinlay, of Lewisham, south east London, was said to have used the cash to send her two children to private school.

She set up the agency with five others in 2002 and worked as an escort until 2003.

During the trial, prosecutors alleged she had been in complete control of Agency Allure and the women on its books.

McKinlay denied controlling prostitution for gain and converting criminal property between December 2008 and July 2011 and was cleared after insisting she was no more than an agent for the escorts on her site.

McKinlay sobbed as the jury at Southwark Crown Court delivered not guilty verdicts.

Stairs trip up drunk burglar

A RAIDER was caught when he passed out drunk after falling downstairs during a burglary.

Stephen McCabe broke into a student flat and helped himself to a coat and guitar from one of the rooms before making his way to the next floor.

But a court heard he lost his footing on the way up and landed at the bottom of the stairway in a "drunken heap."

McCabe, of Halesworth Park, Sunderland – who was on a suspended sentence for a hammer attack at the time – was still passed out when the police got to the burgled flat in Newcastle.

At Newcastle Crown Court the judge jailed the 26-year-old for two-and-a-half years, telling him: "Clearly you were out of it."

McCabe, who had pleaded guilty, had been working well with the probation service before the raid, his defence said.

ANT & DEC STALKER BANNED FROM JUNGLE HOTEL!

30-stone superfan sent topless photos to 'worried' Geordie pair

GET 'EM OUT OF HERE: Horror pic Brenda sent to telly pair

TELLY favourites Ant 'n' Dec were being comforted last night after a 30-stone stalker charged into the I'm A Celebrity... hotel to cuddle them.

Gutbucket Brenda Betham, 22, has followed the Geordie duo's every move for "some years" and even bombarded their mobile phones with topless photos of herself.

But the harassment stepped up a gear last week when the lady colossus from Crewe, Cheshire, arrived at the Palazzo Versace hotel in Queensland, apparently intent on embracing the pair.

I'm A Celebrity security staff swung into action and managed to block Bertha from Ant 'n' Dec's £500-a-night suite in the high-end flophouse.

Now there are fears that Brenda could have hidden her bulk in the sweaty darkness of the Springbrook National Park, site of the Celebrity jungle camp.

An I'm A Celebrity... source shuddered: "Ant 'n' Dec are seriously worried about this Brenda woman.

"From what we understand, she is reliant on State handouts so the determination she showed in raising the funds to reach Australia is quite something.

"When she arrived in the foyer security rang up to the suite. Ant went white. Or Dec went white. Either way, they were spooked.

"The fear is that this Brenda woman is just lurking in the undergrowth, ready to pounce.

"Just watch the show tonight, you'll see Ant 'n' Dec's eyes flitting around. They are at their wits' end listening for the crash of Brenda hurtling through the bush towards them.

"The presenters are being subjected to a trial which is worse than anything the contestants face."

Ant 'n' Dec are 37.

HUNGRY I'm A Celebrity campmates turned on bushtucker trial scaredy-cat Helen Flanagan yesterday.

She was unsuccessful for a FIFTH time after refusing to take part in even the first stage of the "rat run" trial, where 12 gold stars for meals were up for grabs.

Helen came back to camp and promptly told the other celebrities: "I couldn't do it, I completely froze.

"It was kind of a rat race. It wasn't even that hard. I had to get on this wheel thing they were going to chuck all these maggots on me and I just completely froze."

EastEnders star Charlie Brooks said: "It feels like you didn't give it a go."

Yowie yowls again

Springbrook 'beast' has men on edge

by Gabrielle Dunlevy

THE Springbrook yowie is back and its hair-raising screams are enough to make even a burly bodder quiver in his boots.

After two yowie incidents last month, pathsmuds are back on the trail of the elusive creature, which has tormented Hinterland residents and guests for decades. In the first, Chinese tourists were spooked by 'inhuman' noises at the Best of All Lookout.

Then, on Tuesday morning, tradesmen working on a Springbrook house were startled by what they say was a bizarre cry that rose from the dense rainforest behind the property.

Painter Jeremy Armstrong was on the balcony when he heard an 'unbelievable' scream, which he could only liken to a beast.

SCARE: Aussie paper The Gold Coast Bulletin reports story

By NEIL GOODWIN
neil@sundaysport.co.uk

A POWERFUL Bigfoot that ATTACKS humans is lurking in the I'm A Celebrity ...Get Me Out Of Here! jungle, claim worried experts.

The ITV1 show is filmed in isolated Springbrook National Park – an area of dense rainforest on Australia's eastern Gold Coast.

But it's not just bugs and snakes that haunt the area, because it's also home to a hairy growler known as a 'Yowie' that preys on terrified hikers – and the telly series' pampered showbiz stars could be next on the creature's menu!

One concerned expert revealed: "The Yowie isn't a timid, shy beast – it's angry, aggressive and responsible for countless attacks on terrified humans.

Growl

"If any of the I'm a Celebrity guests hear a blood-curdling growl, they should run like hell, unless they want to end up as Yowie tucker."

The man-ape is thought to be a relative of America's Bigfoot and Nepal's Yeti.

But unlike those two critters, the Yowie actively hunts would-be explorers.

The most high profile incident came in 2009 when burly Aussie Dean Harrison, 38, was left covered in bruises after being rugby tackled by one of the 7ft-tall monsters.

He said: "At first I just smelt a really powerful odour.

"The something seven-foot tall started sprinting towards me. It wasn't scared of me.

"I was screaming, telling it to stop. It leapt at me, and smashed its forearm into my chest.

"I landed on my back in the creek. I was terrified. Its eyes illuminated in pitch darkness.

"I didn't sleep for eight months afterwards."

Yowie expert and author Tony Healy, who penned the book The Yowie: In Search of Australia's Bigfoot, says the Springbrook Yowie is particularly violent.

He said: "The Springbrook Yowie has a gut-wrenching, foul odour and a really loud, high-pitched scream.

"People have had stones thrown at them and their walls pounded at night. And it's very common to see a huge hairy apeman glaring out from the scrub."

"I LOVE books full of facts like the QI one here.

The thing is, though, I'm not entirely sure many of them are of any use to me, especially in my line of work.

I mean, it may well be handy to know that ostriches can be trained to herd sheep, or that Yank tycoon Ted Turner owns 50,000 bison.

But I don't think spouting that to a fella is going to have quite the same effect as standing stark naked in front of him, do you?"

WILL BBC HORRORS NEVER END?

NEWSNIGHT MURDERED MY KITTENS

The most upsetting story you'll EVER read

DEAD CUTE: Eunice's kittens before 'accident'

A LITTER of six little kittens are today DEAD and flat as PANCAKES...and it's all the fault of BBC's "shoddy" flagship show, Newsnight.

Cat-lover Eunice Barnes became so enraged over the paedo scandal swirling around the news programme she hurled her TV remote at the screen.

The impact dislodged the 42-inch flat-screen telly from its fixings and it fell like an electronic angel of death – straight onto the dozing kittens' basket.

All six – Jordan, Katona, Kardashian, Scherzinger, Tulisa and Corrie Rosie – were squished flat and Eunice lays the blame right at the door of Newsnight.

Blockage

Widow Eunice, 80, sobbed: "I was watching the Newsnight fiasco unfold and was gripped by the sheer lack of editorial oversight at what is, supposedly, the BBC's flagship news programme.

"I mean, which executive signed off the report? It was outrageous that Lord McAlpine was wrongly smeared as a child-sex fiend by executives who were clearly desperate to play 'catch up' after the criticism over them dropping the Jimmy Savile investigation.

"As I watched, I became more and more angry – finally hurling the remote at the screen. Unfortunately, our Kenneth fixed the brackets and he's a right useless lummox.

"The screen wobbled a bit and then fell – right on top of the cats. Oh, those poor dears!"

Eunice, from Macclesfield, Cheshire, suffered further anguish when she attempted to flush the lifeless kitten corpses down the toilet – and caused a blockage that cost £180 to clear.

She raged: "Newsnight's editorial incompetence has cost me six kittens, a telly and the price of a weekend callout by Stan the plumber.

"The resignation of George Entwistle goes no way to making up for this."

The Newsnight crisis has rocked the BBC – last Saturday evening Director General George Entwistle quit after just 54 days in the job over what chairman of the BBC Trust Lord Patten, called "shoddy journalism".

The Corporation last week paid £185K to Lord McAlpine, the former Tory treasurer wrongly implicated as a paedophile by Newsnight's November 2 report.

Shame

The shambles provoked a withering statement by the programme's long-time anchor Jeremy Paxman, 62, who raged: "George Entwistle's departure is a great shame. He has been brought low by cowards and incompetents. The real problem here is the BBC's decision, in the wake of the Hutton Inquiry, to play safe by appointing biddable people. They then compounded the problem by enforcing a series of cuts on programme budgets, while bloating the management."

As Sunday Sport went to press last night, it was unclear if Paxman had been made aware of the fate of Eunice's kittens.

ENT OF THE LINE: The loss of ex boss Entwistle was a shame, says host of troubled Newsnight Jeremy Paxman

Jess: 'I won't get 'En out!'

BAH! Olympics babe Jessica Ennis has disappointed fans by admitting she'll NEVER pose topless.

Heptathlon winner Jess reckons her fella Andy Hill would be less than pleased if she featured in any boobs-out poses.

The gold medallist, 26, said she enjoyed posing in hotpants for a pre-Olympics photo shoot – but she'd draw the line at being papped in her smalls.

The Sheffield athlete (above) said: "My mum rang me when she saw them and said, 'Young lady, you didn't tell me about that, did you?'

"Andy gets the mickey taken out of him at work for it, but I would never do topless or nude pics or even be body-painted."

Halle regrets trumper tatt

HOLLYWOOD hottie Halle Berry has admitted she regrets getting her BUM tattooed.

The X-Men beauty (above) had her ex hubby David Justice's name etched onto her kissable rump.

But Halle, 46, said: "Tattooing someone else's name on my body was a dumb thing to do.

"Now that tattoo is covered up with a bigger one, but if I had to do it again, I would never have gotten any!"

...AND DID MIRANDA KILL CLIVE DUNN?

SPECULATION was growing last night that Dad's Army stalwart Clive Dunn dropped dead after hearing that robust lady comic Miranda Hart was to appear in a film remake of the show.

Co-creator Jimmy Perry told a stunned meeting of the Dad's Army Appreciation Society last week that the 39-year-old big-boned funnygirl was to take the Captain Mainwaring role.

The news was met by disbelief and even TEARS by devoted fans of the show, which ran for 80 episodes between 1968 and 1977.

Now devotees are openly wondering if the shock of hearing Hart was taking the Mainwaring role finished off frail Dunn, who tragically died in Portugal on November 6.

One Dad's Army fan, who asked not to be named for fear of reprisals, said: "Clive was 92, the slightest thing could have packed him off to eternity.

"Surely hearing that big girl would soon be clumping all over Dad's Army was enough to finish him off."

GAZZA

The signing they ALL wanted

IT'S fantastic to see Ricky Hatton looking in such good shape ahead of his comeback fight.

I can't wait to see him take on Vyacheslav Senchenko on Saturday night.

The thing about Ricky is that he really makes his opponents suffer. Instead of going for the big knockout punches to the head, he just lands body-shot after body-shot until the other bloke can't feel his kidneys anymore. It's f*ing brutal! I'd rather walk over hot coals than fight Ricky.

Don't give coke a second snort!

JUST say no to drugs – or you might wake up to a £110,000 receipt for SIX Harley-Davidsons.

Apparently, champion jockey Frankie Dettori has tested positive for a banned substance that isn't performance-enhancing and – according to one or two reports – that substance is cocaine.

Well, if those reports are true, then you need to hear my story, Frankie.

The first time I tried coke was just after I'd retired from football.

I took it off and on for two weeks and then quit. After a while, I started having the odd line again here and there, but then in 2006, I bought a load of the stuff and locked myself in a hotel room for six weeks.

Voices

Honestly, if I took coke tomorrow, the hangover wouldn't bother me – it's the paranoia I couldn't live with. I used to hear voices – it was like the most horrendous nightmare.

And the other thing is that it isn't just about you – it causes your friends and family so much pain as well.

It can also be ridiculously expensive – and I'm not just talking about the drugs.

Once, I woke up with no memory of the night before, so I rooted in my pocket and found a receipt for £110,000.

I thought, "Fme, it must be a misprint," but it wasn't. I looked outside and there were six Harley-Davidson motorbikes on the drive!

I rang the dealership, but they wouldn't refund me, so I had to trade them all over the place. I was fing gutted! So Frankie, unless you need a fleet of motorbikes, just say no!

Ghosts seem to haunt me

IF I want to see ghosts, I'll just go back to one of the haunted houses I used to live in.

So there really isn't any need for me to watch this Twilight film everyone's excited about.

When I signed for Lazio, I lived in this house just outside Rome – it was a kind of villa – but after seeing the same ghost on three separate occasions, I knew it was time to pack my bags.

One time, I woke up and couldn't get out of bed. No matter how hard I tried, I just couldn't move – I was frozen. I looked up and saw this old bloke coming down the stairs and into the bedroom.

And he had a wolf by his side!

Nearly shitting myself, I quickly jumped up.

A mate of mine was staying in one of the other bedrooms, so I ran in there. But when I opened the door, he was shaking like a leaf under the bed.

I went, "What the f are you doing?"

Spooky

He was white as snow and just mumbled, "I've just seen a ghost – an old bloke with a wolf."

At that point, I knew I hadn't dreamt it or been hallucinating!

I saw that same fella with his wolf three times and, after I moved out, I found out that the villa used to be a farmhouse and was home to a man who kept wolves.

How spooky is that?

And my run-ins with ghouls didn't end there!

Years later, after signing for Middlesbrough, I rented a big, old five-bedroom house in Seaham.

It's called Greystones and used to be the old vicarage at St Mary's Church.

Right next to it, there's a graveyard where, legend has it, a famous pirate called Captain Jack Parrot is buried. Once, I saw this guy dressed in an old army uniform carrying a weapon, and another time, I saw a bloke with a baldy head at my window!

So I ran into one of the other rooms and you'll never guess what I found in there – a fing coffin left by the man who lived there before me!

A few days later, me and my mate were watching TV and an air freshener went flying across the room. I said, "Why did you do that?" but he went, "I didn't!"

I went to my bedroom, locked the door behind me and started shouting, "Just take what you want and leave us alone." And not long after that, I saw this little old lady with grey hair. Around the same time, I found a woman's hairbrush, which I moved. But hours later, I noticed it had been moved it back.

All this happened within a few days, so I hired a spiritualist.

He came to the house and identified every one of the spirits without me even saying anything.

He said the old lady used to own the house and didn't like me moving her hairbrush, so she moved it back. Spooky!

When Roy Keane took the Sunderland job, he looked around the house, but decided against buying it.

Surely, you weren't scared of a little old lady were you, Roy?

IF I was 20-years younger I'd be working my charm on Tamara Ecclestone.

Did you see the pictures of her this week in a cheeky low-cut dress? I think she's stunning! And, her old man, Formula 1 chief Bernie, is absolutely loaded – she's my perfect woman!

It's just a pity she's only 28. If I went out with her, people would start calling me Hugh Hefner!

Mad Mario's lost the plot

HOW come Manchester City striker Mario Balotelli hasn't been sectioned yet?

He's had his car – a £160,000 Bentley Continental GT – covered in camouflage vinyl. When I bought a £200,000 Ferrari and died my hair red to match, I was marched straight back to rehab!

I'd just left the Priory but when I did that, they took me straight back.

After two weeks, I left again, but I was still paranoid. I went to a cashpoint and took out £40, but I thought someone was watching me, so I nutted them.

The problem was, the 'bloke' I headbutted was actually a lamppost and I sparked myself clean out!

A couple of weeks later – after I'd jumped out of a moving car on the motorway, walked to my ex-wife's house and jumped on to a mirror I mistook for the bed it was reflecting – I knew it was time to sort myself out!

Back the fight to free Danny

EVERYONE should back the Sport campaign to have SAS hero Danny Nightingale freed from jail.

Danny is the SAS sergeant who's spent 17 years fighting for his country. He's been banged-up for 18 months for keeping a pistol he was given as a present.

What makes it disgusting is that he didn't know he had the gun because he'd lost his memory due to brain damage.

Servicemen risk their lives protecting us, especially those like Danny in the SAS.

They're probably the most elite in the world – so when one of them breaks the law through no fault of their own, somebody needs to use a bit of common sense.

I've met plenty of soldiers in rehab and seen exactly how post-traumatic stress disorder affects them. It's scary.

That's why there are times when we should make allowances. Sometimes, I'd be sat in the treatment centre watching a war film and these soldiers – hard lads – would be sh*tting themselves and putting pillows over their ears.

They were having flashbacks.

Hopefully, if enough people back this campaign, it will convince the Government to intervene. It should not have even come to this!

IF you think Zlatan Ibrahimovic's goal against England is the best of all time then you're mad!

Of course, it was amazing – it was an overhead kick from 30-yards for f*'s sake – but it wasn't any better than Wayne Rooney's against Manchester City a couple of seasons ago.

I know another world-class player who scored goals that were just as spectacular – me!

Everyone always mentions the goal I scored for England against Scotland at Euro 96 – the one where I had a little look, flicked the ball over Colin Hendry's head and volleyed it in the bottom corner – but the one I scored for Lazio against Pescara, where I beat five men, was better.

The free-kick I scored for Spurs against Arsenal in the FA Cup semi-final wasn't too bad, either.

After the game, I told David Seaman he made himself look stupid by even trying to save it!

As famous sisters bring London to a standstill...

THE WILD WESTFIELD: Fans clamour to see the Kardashians

MEET KEITH KARDASHIAN!

LONDON, a once proud and reserved city, went bonkers last weekend over three sisters who – to put it bluntly – have NEVER done anything.

Scenes at the Westfield Shopping Centre in Stratford were labelled Kardashian Khaos, as more than 10,000 fans strained to see siblings Kim, Kourtney and Khloe unveil some new frocks, or something.

Some shoppers got so caught up in the crush that they had to be pulled out by security guards.

A million miles – well, 2,701 miles to be exact – from the scenes of bedlam lives the least-known member of the Kardashian Klan...KEITH!

The 56-year-old taxi driver plies his trade in Yerevan, capital of the Kardashians' ancestral homeland, Armenia.

By BARNEY SAMUELS
in Yerevan, Armenia

The married dad-of-three had no idea he was related to the world's most famous famous-for-being-famous family until he was approached by a TV researcher in the country.

He said: "A man come to me from the TV show You Have Fame In Your Family, Yes? And he tell me I was distantly-relate to these girls from U.S.

"I ask him 'What? You want money? I no give you money!' He say he no want money. I say 'Good'. I go on the TV – he give me money. Is good.

"These girls, they good strong girls. If I was their papa, I still be bathing them, no?"

WHICH OF THESE BABES WOULD MOST GET IT?

CORRIE STARS BUZZING OVER SEX TOY RIDDLE

TOY STORY: Actress Kym Marsh (right) made the shocking soap claim

Street's Kym sparks dildo Cluedo

By NEIL GOODWIN
neil@sundaysport.co.uk

TOP soap Coronation Street is at the centre of a 'shocking' SEX TOY riddle.

Loose-lipped star Kym Marsh set the cat amongst Weatherfield's pigeons when she admitted that one cast member has been BRAGGING about their nookie aid exploits.

And while Kym, 36, refuses to finger the dildo fan, EVERYONE is a suspect.

The actress, who plays Corrie knicker-stitcher Michelle Connor, let slip: "There's always something funny happening in the Green Room.

"There was a particular person last week discussing their sex toy and let's just say it wasn't somebody you'd imagine it to be!

"I'm not going to reveal who, but it was shocking!"

Another source on the ITV1 set admitted amateur sleuths were now desperately trying to work out who is responsible for the X-rated confession.

Our mole added: "It's like Cluedo – everyone's trying to guess whodunit... with the vibrator in the bedroom."

WOO-HOO DUNNIT? Several of the Corrie regulars have been fingered as the owner of a mystery sex toy

Johnson

God-bothering Emily Bishop – aka actress Eileen Derbyshire, 82 – is an unlikely candidate, as she's more likely to be holding a Bible than a rubber Johnson.

Feisty Rita Tanner doesn't stock love eggs in her corner shop. But maybe actress Barbara Knox, 79, has them on her own personal shelves?

Meanwhile brunette pin-up Michelle Keegan, who plays the Street's Tina McIntyre, admits that she's "a bit sexy".

The 25-year-old added: "Tina is quite plain, but she's so confident – a bit sexy."

Geordie lass Shore needs laptop porn!

SEXUALLY-frustrated Geordie Shore babe Charlotte Letitia Crosby says she's obsessed with PORN.

The pretty 21-year-old reckons she hasn't had sex for so long she's making up for it by watching grot.

The MTV star said: "The last time I had sex was so long ago.

"I'm so horny I've been watching porn. I bought a new laptop especially."

Last month the beauty came up with a range of dresses perfect for a night on the Toon or further afield.

Newly blonde (above) Charlotte, 21, said: "I wanted to bring out my own fashion range because people always ask me where my clothes are from.

"I thought it would be a great thing to do."

Man BBQ's his lover's panties

A MAN who suspected his girlfriend was cheating on him set fire to her panties on a BBQ.

A court heard Lee Ingledew accused Louise Berry of having affairs and broke into their home in Cullompton, Devon, where he took her undies out into the back garden and burned them.

He told her "I have burned all your knickers."

Jobless Ingledew, who admitted two counts of criminal damage, was given a 12 month conditional discharge, must pay his girlfriend £65 to replace her burned knickers and carry out 40 hours of unpaid work.

Drug dealer hid his £150k coke stash in rabbit holes

A COUNTRY bumpkin drug dealer has been jailed for 11 years for an "Alice in Wonderland" plot in which he hid thousands of pounds worth of cocaine in RABBIT WARRENS.

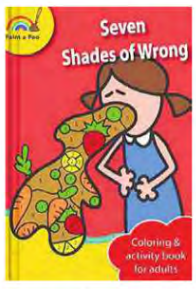
James Fielder, 63, was the mastermind of a £150,000 conspiracy in which he bought coke in bulk from London and sold it onto the streets of North Devon.

He fled the country after his arrest in 2010 by handing in an expired passport to police and escaping to Thailand on his real one. He was jailed after returning earlier this year and being arrested at Heathrow.

Fielder was trapped by a major police surveillance operation where officers hid in undergrowth at his farm and filmed him taking delivery of coke with a wholesale value of around £150K.

The operation was compared to Alice in Wonderland because he hid the cocaine in straw-covered rabbit holes at his farm.

Fielder, of Braunton, admitted conspiracy to supply cocaine and was jailed by Judge Francis Gilbert, QC, who told him: "You were the principal in a cocaine dealing operation."



That's a bit colourful!

THE MAN behind the world's most offensive colouring-in book has warned parents NOT to buy it for their children.

The tome, Seven Shades Of Wrong, features cartoon depictions of shock net pics and videos.

It includes the infamous 'two girls one cup' flick – where a couple of ladies enjoy a 'scat' session – and 'tubgirl', which shows a rotund female defecating into her own mouth.

Creator Michael Mentessi said of his twisted publication: "Lots of parents have joked about getting one for their kids.

"But I wouldn't condone giving this book to kids."

BUBBLE BURST

KILLJOY council bosses slammed "health hazard" pranksters who filled a fountain in Maidenhead, Berks, with BUBBLE BATH.

"I'VE been really organised this year, and have almost finished doing my Christmas shopping.

Don't get me wrong, I'm a typical girlie-girl, and absolutely love looking for special presents for all my friends and family.

But I prefer splashing the cash on myself!

So now most of the hard work is out of the way, I can check out some sexy undies to wear on Xmas Eve!"

CHINESE BUSTS A GUT FOR PREZZA

£10 deal to cheer up loser

A CHEEKY Chinese takeaway offered to cheer up humiliated Lord Prescott last night – with a gutbusting Oriental feast for just a £10!

Food fan Prezza had hoped to become the new Police Commissioner for Humberside but the former Labour Deputy PM lost out to Tory rival Matthew Grove by more than 2,000 votes.

So, for this week only, enterprising fast food boss Sammy Li is offering his Special Set Menu – usually costing £30 – for just a tenner in a bid to put the smile back on the well-padded Lord's mush.

Punters have already started queuing up for what Sammy is calling the Prezza Plate Filler.

Sammy, 52, owner of the Golden Duck Chippy in Whatcroft, Cheshire, smiled: "We know that Lord Prescott likes his Chinese food.

"If he want to come to Whatcroft he can sample our Special Set – starter, soup, four main and three special fried rice – for £10.

"That should make him smile again."

And, in a tasteless snipe at Prezza's battle with eating disorder bulimia, Sammy said: "I just hope he doesn't sick it all out again. Ho, ho!"

Take your best short then, fella

TINY actor Warwick Davis has told how he almost got into a fist fight at a Keane concert.

The dwarf star of TV's Life's Too Short says he was accosted by a man who got down on his KNEES ready for a punch-up.

The 42-year-old (above), due to star in upcoming Sky1 show An Idiot Abroad: The Short Way Round, says the altercation came after the drunk had danced on a seat at the gig, blocking his view.

Warwick says: "At the end I tapped him on the shoulder and said, 'Excuse me mate, next time you come to a concert you might want to consider getting a standing ticket'.

"He started shouting, 'Your sort shouldn't even be here!' He was so drunk he got on to his knees so he could square-up to me."

Michael feels Twilight years

ACTOR Michael Sheen has confessed that young Twilight heart-throbs make him feel like "an old, fat Welshman".

The BAFTA-winning star of Twilight: Breaking Dawn Part II said that performing with Robert Pattinson and Kristen Stewart is making him feel his age.

Sheen, 43, plays a villain in vampire films and reckons being on set with starlets Ashley Greene and Nikki Reed has smashed his self-esteem.

He says it's a challenge to "be on set with some of the most attractive young people in the world today".

Michael (above), from Port Talbot, South Wales, said: "There is nothing like being around Rob, Kristen, Ashley and Nikki to make you feel like an old, fat Welshman."

BABES BATHE IN SPAGHETTI HOOPS

PASTA THE

By JUSTIN DUNN justin@sundaysport.co.uk

THREE Sunday Sport stunnas are raising cash for Children In Need by taking a marathon NAKED dip in a tub of SPAGHETTI HOOPS!

The brunette babes jumped in the bath on Friday lunchtime and the cash pledges immediately started pouring in.

Becky Holt, Chloe Lexus and Charley Atwell stayed in the bath for a staggering 12 HOURS and they admitted that the tiny pasta hoops managed to get EVERYWHERE.

Chester-born cutie Becky, who sports amazing 32D boobs, said: "It was really squishy and slippery in there!

Squeeze

"With the three of us all in the bath there together it was a bit of a tight squeeze, too, but we just about managed it.

"It got quite cold after a while so we had to keep adding hot water to stop us shivering.

"Let's just say there were six erect nipples on display!"

Lovely 34GG Essex girl Charley, 25, added: "It's not something I'd want to repeat in a hurry but it's all in a good cause."

KATE: MY MASSIVE TODGER HELL

BITS ALL OVER: But Katie's glad to be shot of well-hung Leandro

By JESSICA HAWORTH
jessica@sundaysport.co.uk

NERVOUS model Katie Price says she runs scared of enormous knobs!

The busty beauty has seen her fair share of big bell-ends, having shacked up with the likes of pop stars Dane Bowers and Peter Andre.

But Katie – aka 34FF pin-up Jordan – says she hates straddling a huge member.

Speaking about her recent split with toyboy ex Leandro Penna – who boasted a 'major' package – she admitted: "His big willy is the reason why I got cystitis! I don't miss those crown jewels!"

The 34-year-old babe also admitting preferring a PLASTIC cock to an oversized real one, adding: "I have enough toys in my sack!"

Katie says ex-hubby Alex Reid can expect a rough ride when her autobiography comes out.

Speaking about the cross-dressing cage fighter, she said: "I've got videos and pictures of Alex. I've seen more than you can imagine."

Meanwhile Katie says she's on the hunt for a new man, explaining: "There's a celebrity I'd like to go under the duvet with – and do a lot more than that!

"There are lots of people I have my eye on. I'm not window shopping – I'm grabbing!

"When I'm at home I'll not be walking around in thigh-high boots and a little outfit – unless it's for a lucky man!"

WHO'S in an Outback-sized stroperama over the decision not to send her into the jungle for ITV1's I'm A Celebrity?

You guessed it, none other than morsel-sized chanteuse and former soap popsy NELLIE DELANEY!

Nellie, formerly of teatime emission MOONIE BAY, was apparently on the shortlist – but was dropped at the last minute on expert advice thanks to her, er, brain issues. Wibble!

GURGLE rockers MOONBAT are on a roll following their sellout gig at LYTHAM ST ANNES at the weekend.

The band, described by BOING! RADIO'S head of content GERVAIS MATRAVERS as "the biggest thing since PULLBACK" will get a grilling by Yank chat legend CHUCK DANGLEBERRY on Friday.

I'm told that HETTIE JONES, who was to host the event, has pulled out because of "privacy issues" and her place will be taken by the controversial transvestite rap poet DAI BLEEDING.

That should be interesting afer what happened with CWM BURPA in Harlech last year!

WHY SEX ADDICT KRIS HAS LEFT HER HOME TOWN

I've run out of blokes to bonk!

SHAG HAPPY: Cute Kris is on the move after running out of blokes to shag in Leeds

MAN CITY: Kris hopes to bed more blokes in Manchester (right) after nookie dried up in Leeds (below)

By SARAH GREENHILL
news@sundaysport.co.uk

A PRETTY sex addict today reveals she is moving to a new city – because she's run out of blokes to SHAG!

Kris Stuart may look like the girl next door – but she admits she has an addiction that has led to her bonking around 500 fellas.

Her habit means she has to relieve the cravings herself if there's no blokes around – up to 12 times a DAY.

Now she's moving from Leeds to Manchester because eligible blokes she hasn't slept with are getting thin on the ground.

Call centre worker Kris, 26, said: "It might sound funny to say that I've run out of felllas but every time I walk into a pub or bar in Leeds there's someone I've slept with or a mate of his who fancies his chances.

"It is starting to get me down because I can't relax if someone knows what I am like because they just think they can take advantage. Quite often they can.

"I've lost count of how many guys I have slept with over the last nine years but it must be approaching 500. That's about one a week and that's why I am going to pastures new."

Last month, she made a fool of herself at a house party by propositioning her mate's DAD – and on the way home had sex with the taxi driver.

She said: "Taxi drivers, bus drivers, I have had the lot. I once had a romp with the pizza delivery guy who was pretty hot."

Demands

Kris has never had a relationship longer than a couple of weeks because blokes can't keep up with her demands for sex.

She confessed: "Most of them can't keep up with me. Whenever I get turned on I need to be satisfied.

"I've woken up guys at four in the morning sometimes for sex.

"They think it is great at first but then they complain they are not getting enough sleep.

"If my lovers won't satisfy me then I know I'm going to look for other men to feed my addiction."

Kris lost her virginity shortly before her 17th birthday but developed such a desire for sex that two years ago she was diagnosed as an addict.

She then started meeting random men off the internet for no-strings nookie.

Kris laughed: "Most people who know me think I'm sweet and charming. I'm polite and well spoken – not everyone's idea of an insatiable maneater.

"But it's not a vice. If I didn't sleep with them I would have got depressed

"For some, it is food or booze, for me it is sex."

Kris has been to Sex Addicts' Anonymous but is now trying to manage her condition with willpower.

She said: "I have a real problem and if I can't have sex when I want then it really does drive me to the edge of insanity."

Moroccan is asked 'Got a camel?' at hospital op

A HOSPITAL worker who asked a Moroccan patient if she had a CAMEL has been suspended from his profession for a year.

Martin Swain told shocked colleagues "all Moroccans have camels" when they confronted him over his quip.

Swain also told female workmates to "stick to childcare and knitting" and asked a volatile prisoner brought in under guard where he had "hidden the money".

A string of charges against him were found proved by a Health and Care Professions Council panel, who banned him from working as an operating department practitioner for a year.

Chairman Colin Allies said: "This type of behaviour is wholly unacceptable."

Swain made a series of sexist and racist comments while at the Victoria Hospital in Lewes, East Sussex, in 2009.

When asked about his 'camel' quip Swain told bosses: "I couldn't think of anything else to say to a Moroccan person, really."

Swain was sacked by East Sussex Community Health Services following a 2010 investigation.

Man faces court for rolling cop nags

A MAN has been accused of trying to forcefeed police horses – with SAUSAGE ROLLS!

Francis Kelly, 41, is said to have "adopted an aggressive stance" towards officers when told to put the pastries away in Glasgow on September 26.

Kelly, of Govanhill, denies breach of the peace. He will stand trial in February.

Salmon: I sat with a stiffy on holiday flight

HORRIFIED Strictly Come Dancing star Colin Salmon says he once had to share a flight with a CORPSE.

The Resident Evil and Merlin actor says was forced to sit next to a stiff after a passenger snuffed it.

The 49-year-old said: "On the way back from Turkey we were queuing to get on the plane and noticed another couple getting on and the guy, who was a bit infirm and did not look at all well, was being helped on by a nurse.

"We were sat adjacent to him on the plane and we just couldn't take our eyes off him and then sure enough, he passed away.

"The staff moved him into a window seat and put a blanket around him, while a nurse moved his wife to the back of the plane.

"None of the other passengers were aware and we had to contain this panic.

"There were children sat behind us and we just had to keep it totally chilled for the rest of the journey. It was definitely my worst travel experience."

Banned driver a bite p*ssed!

A DRUNK asleep at the wheel of a car BIT a cop who woke him up.

John McGuiness chomped on PC Craig McLeod's arm and kicked him in the face when his sleep was disturbed.

McGuiness, 30, was banned from driving after admitting failing to give a breath specimen to police on January 22.

Officers arrested him on suspicion of being drunk in charge of a car. McGuiness also admitted assaulting PC McLeod.

His lawyer told Perth Sherriff Court: "His brother had been driving. My client was found in the vehicle with his belongings as he had been sleeping in the car."

Sherriff Fiona Tait noted is previous conviction for drunk and dangerous driving and disqualified him on an interim basis. Sentence was deferred until next month.

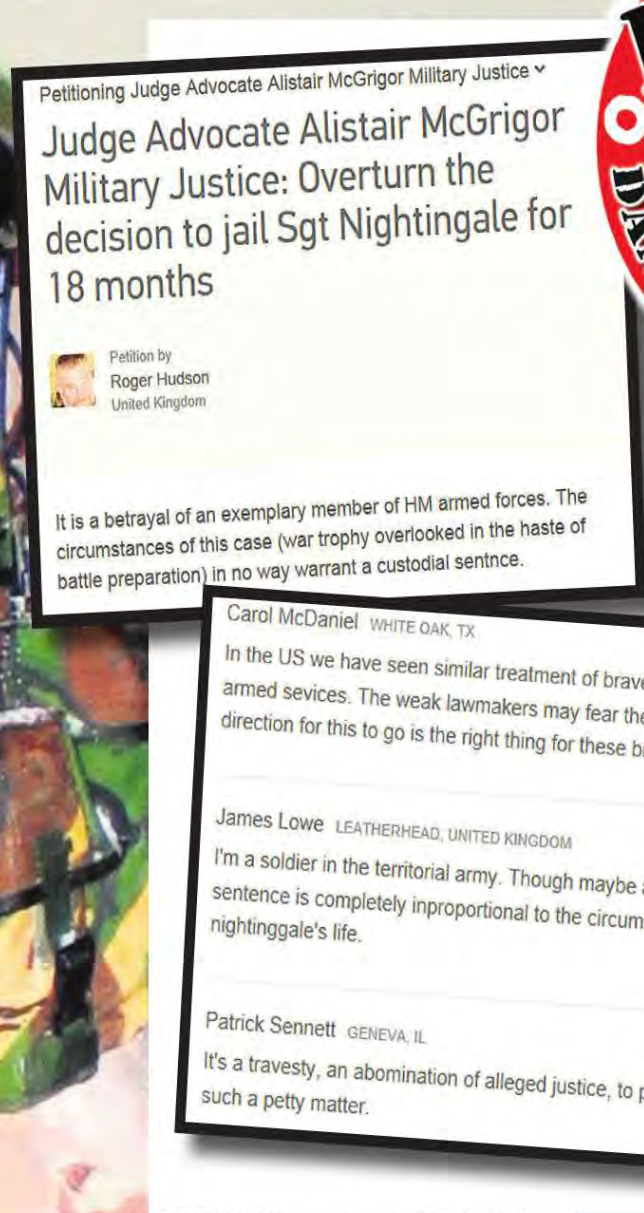
Worldwide fury at Sgt Danny Nightingale jail term



Petitioning Judge Advocate Alistair McGrigor Military Justice

Judge Advocate Alistair McGrigor Military Justice: Overturn the decision to jail Sgt Nightingale for 18 months

Petition by Roger Hudson
United Kingdom

It is a betrayal of an exemplary member of HM armed forces. The circumstances of this case (war trophy overlooked in the haste of battle preparation) in no way warrant a custodial sentnce.

Carol McDaniel WHITE OAK, TX about 21 hours ago Liked
In the US we have seen similar treatment of brave men and women of our armed sevices. The weak lawmakers may fear the strong warriors, the only direction for this to go is the right thing for these brave souls. Drop the charges.

James Lowe LEATHERHEAD, UNITED KINGDOM about 21 hours ago Liked
I'm a soldier in the territorial army. Though maybe a stupid act, the 18 month jail sentence is completely inproportional to the circumstances of the events and nightinggale's life.

Patrick Sennett GENEVA, IL about 21 hours ago Liked
It's a travesty, an abomination of alleged justice, to prosecute a war hero for such a petty matter.

SUPPORT: Hundreds have signed a petition to free Danny while supporters have also tweeted their backing

Are YOU outraged at the treatment of this brave soldier? Email freehimnow@sundaysport.co.uk. We'll print all your comments. Follow the campaign on Twitter #Freesaswarhero Or sign the petition at change.org

OUTRAGE at the jailing of a British SAS hero over a minor firearms offence has spread around the world.

Sniper Sgt Danny Nightingale was caged for 18 months by a court martial after he pleaded guilty to possession of a Glock 9mm pistol, which had been given to him by the Iraqi Army.

The court head heard that Danny had suffered a brain injury and that he'd simply forgotten about the gun – but he was still sent to the stockade.

On Tuesday MPs will debate Danny's case in the Commons.

Danny's local MP, Tory Edward Timpson confirmed to Sunday Sport last week that he has been contacted by constituents about the matter.

Obscene

The fury over Danny's treatment reaches much further than Parliament.

An online petition has already attracted attention from the USA, Australia and South Africa.

George Glassford of Emmaus, Pennsylvania, commented simply: "This is wrong."

Robert Elcombe of Albany, New Zealand, raged: "Common sense should have been applied at some time prior to trial.

"Punishing a SAS soldier for a genuine error of circumstances is obscene and a travesty of justice."

By SIMON DEAN
simon@sundaysport.co.uk

Pointing out the discrepancy between the treatment of Labour's Margaret Moran – who escaped prosecution last week for fiddling expenses – and Danny's case, Barrie Harrie of Ashford, Kent, said: "If an MP can avoid prosecution because of depression then a member of our armed forces can be excused conviction because of a loss of memory."

As usual, Sport readers are in the vanguard when it comes to supporting Sgt Nightingale.

Locked up in a military jail in Colchester, Essex, Danny is said to be "overwhelmed" by the support from the public.

His lawyer Simon McKay said: "He's soldiering but obviously he's very keen to get home to his family.

"He's being treated very well by the authorities but, ultimately, there's only so much they can do."

You can follow developments on the case via Twitter by looking up the hashtag #freesashero

Or you can write directly to the Ministry of Defence to ask them to intervene in Sgt Nightingale's case.

Address your letter to:

The Rt Hon Philip Hammond MP, Secretary of State for Defence, MOD Ministerial Correspondence Unit 5th Floor, Zone A Main Building, Whitehall, London SW1A 2HB.

Amy Lewis x

By KELLY JENKINS
news@sundaysport.co.uk

SNAP-HAPPY Amy Lewis is definitely photogenic, as she loves taking saucy pictures of herself before posting them on the net.

That means the tasty babe, 20, is constantly wandering around her flat without clothes as she searches for the perfect shot.

And it's good news for her neighbours in Southampton, as they're always getting a glimpse of her fabulous 32C curves!

She said: "What's a little flash of boobs and bum between friends?

"I'm not shy. I'm always lounging around naked with the curtains open."

Jenny tells of her 50-orgasm solo-sex hell!

PLAYBOY playmate Jenny McCarthy has revealed her FIFTY ORGASM hell!

The blonde beauty says she went NOOKIE MAD when she used too much of a hormone replacement cream.

And the sex-crazed stunna – who once dated Jim Carrey – had to FLICK THE BEAN constantly to try to cure her urges.

She explained: "I was so horny I couldn't even walk! My vibrator was so worn out, it started to make a screaming noise."

Jenny (above), 40, sought medical advice after locking herself in a bathroom for a huge solo sex session.

She said: "I locked myself in my bathroom for three hours and had about fifty orgasms.

"I knew that if I masturbated any more, my uterus was going to fall out. My vagina felt like a venus flytrap that hasn't eaten in a year."

Jenny revealed in her book Bad Habits she was eventually cured of her horniness when her doctor told her to skip a night of hormone cream.

I THOUGHT my girlfriend was a slag when she told me I was her 32nd lover. Then I realised she was talking about time.

"WELL, wouldn't you know it – just two weeks after the EuroMillions site in France was hacked, a fella in France goes and wins the £134,000,000 top prize.

Not that I'm saying he had anything to do with it, of course, or that the French organisers cocked-up in any way.

I'm just saying it all seems to be about France lately, and that annoys me.

What I'm really saying is that I'm cheesed off it wasn't ME who won it – I had my eye on several hundred pairs of shoes I could have spent it on!"

Ke$ha can't say if she's kissed Katy

SAUCY singer KE$HA has refused to confirm girl-on-girl lust with pop princess Katy Perry.

The red-hot chart topper appeared in Katy's I Kissed a Girl video.

Ke$ha (above), 25 – who hit number one with We R Who We R – would not reveal whether she had ever got to grips with Russell Brand's mouth-watering ex-missus.

But she has owned up to having had LESBO LUST sessions with other willing women.

Last night, she said: "I don't remember if I've ever made out with Katy, but I've kissed some bitches in my life."

Ke$ha – who's full name is Kesha Rose Sebert – admitted she loved wild nights on the town.

She said: "But I'm not wasted and tumbling out of clubs and getting driving convictions.

"I'm not that kind of party girl.

"I may be blonde and fun as balls, but I'm not a moron!"

SNOWMAN AD MELTS MONSTERS' HEARTS

TEAR JERKERS: Hardened crims like (l-r) Mark Hobson, Stephen Griffiths and Michael Sams wept at the advert

Prison guards forced to turn off telly as killers 'sob like little girls'

COLD-HEARTED killers had to be comforted by bewildered prison guards after this year's John Lewis Christmas advert reduced them to sobbing emotional wrecks.

Inmates at Wakefield Prison – dubbed "Monster Mansion" – are now BANNED from watching the ad lest it provokes unrest.

The notorious jail is home to monsters such as Crossbow Cannibal Stephen Griffiths, spree killer Mark Hobson and one-legged sex slayer Michael Sams.

By SIMON DEAN
simon@sundaysport.co.uk

But although these fiends are responsible for some of the most stomach-churning crimes in the UK, their heart strings still appear to be twangable.

A source at the West Yorkshire nick said: "The prisoners are allowed a couple of hours association each day and at this time of year, when it's cold and wet outside, they tend to congregate around the telly.

"It is normally a bit boisterous but when the John Lewis ad came on, an uncomfortable silence descended.

"The guards watch everything very closely and it was clear that some of the inmates were sobbing.

"Sobbing like little girls.

Climax

"When the advert reached its climax – and the lady snowman got her scarf, hat and mittens – there wasn't a dry eye in the room.

"Straight after there was silence and some name-calling, aimed at those who'd been crying. But they had ALL been crying. Everyone was ordered to go back to their cells in case trouble erupted.

"TV sets in communal areas are now switched off by staff if the ad ever comes on.

"Who would ever have thought a commercial for a shop would unleash such an emotional tsunami?"

In this year's John Lewis ad, the star is a determined snowman who goes on a quest to find the perfect present for his snowy ladyfriend.

'I'll kill you' nut hanged his Barbies

A MAN who boasted he wanted "to kill as many people as Colonel Gaddafi" was found executing BARBIE DOLLS, a court heard.

Angry Richard Thomas, 61, flipped and began physically and verbally assaulting locals as he thought his cat had been killed by one of their dogs.

He pointed a ball-bearing gun at one neighbour and said: "You are going to pay for this, I am going to kill you, pour petrol on your bungalow and kill the lot of you".

Officers raided his home and found dozens of Barbie dolls hanging from his ceiling in NOOSES, Truro Crown Court heard.

The court heard Thomas had boasted he wanted to kill as many people as the former Libyan dictator Colonel Gaddafi.

Thomas, of Connor Downs, Cornwall, admitted possessing a ball-bearing gun and a sheath knife with intent to cause fear of violence and of making threats to kill.

He was sentenced to six years in prison less 442 days already spent in prison on remand.

Cop cops a load of his own gas

A POLICEMAN was rushed to hospital after he was sprayed with CS gas – by HIMSELF!

The officer used the spray when confronting a thug but the jet was caught by wind and blew back in his face.

As he struggled to breathe he suffered a fractured cheekbone and facial cuts.

CS spray can cause streaming, a burning sensation in the eyes, blurred vision and can also blister the skin. Its effects can last up to an hour.

The officer was taken to hospital in Kirkcaldy, Scotland, after the incident at Glenrothes bus station.

Fife Police said a 40-year-old man had been arrested in connection with the incident.

WAY TOW GO: Babe strips off for telly star Sam

Towie Sam's judging Porn Idol!

WHITE A SIGHT: Sam shows off her own undies

By NEIL GOODWIN
neil@sundaysport.co.uk

THE ONLY Way is X-RATED for telly's Sam Faiers after she judged a jaw-dropping 'Porn Idol' stripping contest.

The gorgeous TOWIE blonde watched open-mouthed as the brazen competitors peeled off in a bid to win a £100 cash prize.

The stunt was organised by top London club night G-A-Y, who made Sam, 21, and her sister Billie, 22, guests of honour.

Giggling

And Sam was left giggling with delight as a saucy female reveller – known only as Vicky – walked off with the dosh after impressing with her bouncy on-stage antics.

Speaking after the bash on Twitter Sam wrote: "Wow! Words can't explain what I have seen tonight! #g.a.y very entertaining!"

Cheeky Sam isn't the first babe form The Only Way Is Essex to judge the annual competition.

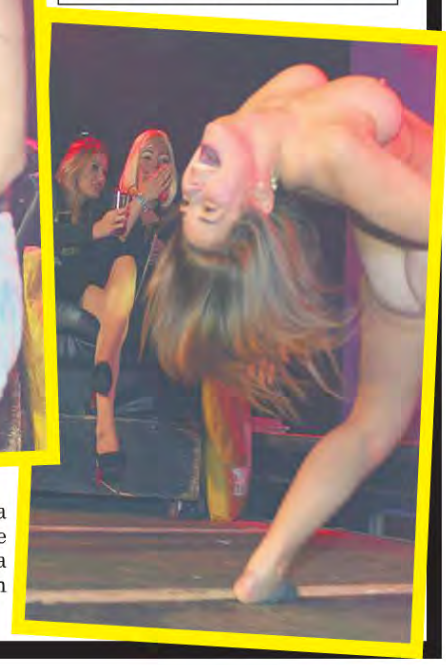
Last year's 'Porn Idol' event was judged by bubbly Gemma Collins, 30, who handed the hundred quid to a hunky fella who'd waggled his tackle in Gemma's face.



BUTT NAKED: Fellas impressed Sam by with their tackle-waggling

You messed up my Alien!

ALIEN creator H R Giger has slammed filmmakers' attempts to update his legendary movie monster.

Swiss artist Hans Rudolf Giger famously worked with director Ridley Scott to come up with the infamous 'Xenomorph' of the 1979 horror flick.

But Giger, 72, says the subsequent sequels and spin-offs cocked it up royally.

He said: "I was always a bit disappointed by what I perceived as a lack of care, attention and passion in how some of my designs were evolved.

"It seemed to me as if commercial interests ranged far higher on the scale of importance than the plausible evolution of the alien.

"Some of the designs lost much of what I had infused into them."

10 THINGS YOU DIDN'T KNOW ABOUT... THE UK SINGLES CHART

THE UK singles chart is still going strong and celebrated its 60th birthday last week.

Ex-Take That star Robbie Williams is at number one – until today at least – with Candy, Adele's Bond theme Skyfall is at number four and Rita Ora is at number 10 with Shine Your Light.

The rise of the internet has seen the days of teenagers making tapes of the Sunday airing of the new charts come to an end.

But getting to number one still remains the aim of pop stars everywhere.

Here's 10 things you might not know about them...

1 RECORD charts in the UK began in 1952, when Percy Dickins of the New Musical Express (NME) gathered a pool of 52 stores willing to report sales figures.

2 FOR the first British chart Dickins rang approximately 20 shops, asking for a list of the 10 best-selling songs. The results were then aggregated into a Top 12 chart published in NME on 14 November 1952, with Al Martino's Here in My Heart at No 1 (left).

3 ELVIS Presley has had more number one singles than anyone else, with 21. The Beatles are second at 17. Oasis are 10th with eight.

4 FRANKIE Laine's I Believe holds the record for most weeks at number one, but his eighteen weeks were split between different releases.

5 THE longest continuous run at the top is 16 weeks for Bryan Adams' (Everything I Do) I Do It For You, a week longer than Wet Wet Wet's Love Is All Around.

6 BY Thursday last week, No Doubt's new single Looking Hot – which was featured on X Factor – had sold just 680 copies.

7 THE biggest selling single ever was Elton John's Candle In The Wind, with over 4.8m copies sold. Queen's Bohemian Rhapsody sold almost 2.2 million.

8 FRANK Sinatra's My Way has spent more time in the chart than any other record, at 124 weeks. Last Christmas by Wham! is 21st with 42 weeks.

9 DOWNLOADED sales have been included in the charts since 2005.

10 MICHAEL Jackson's death in 2009 was the first time in the download era that the effect of a major star's death on the chart could be observed. On the week after his death, 16 of his solo hits re-entered the chart.

Phone spy man catches wife with foreign student

A FEMALE teacher was arrested after being caught by her husband having sex with a 16-year-old foreign exchange student, living at their home.

Amie Lou Neely, 38, was nabbed on a sexual assault charge after an investigation by police in Port St. Lucie, Florida.

Cops say Neely's husband caught the pair together after he used a smart phone app to track her.

He found them having sex in a car near St. Lucie West Centennial High.

Neighbours said the student showed up at their home claiming Neely's husband kicked him out of the house for having sex with his wife.

Mrs Neely blamed her actions on a "midlife crisis" and told officers the 16-year-old kept asking her for sex.

The student said they had sex more than once, which she denies.

Neely was released from jail on £10,000 bail and is said to be no longer employed at the Community Christian Academy in Stuart.

Naked knife hubby shot dead by cops

A NAKED man was shot and killed by policemen after he refused to stop chasing his estranged wife with a KNIFE.

Two officers called to the scene found the unidentified 37-year-old man following his missus out of her apartment.

Cops ordered him to stop and drop his weapon, before they opened fire, critically injuring him.

He was pronounced dead at hospital later.

It was unclear why the man had been naked at the time, but what is known is that the victim had a rocky relationship with his wife.

At the time of his death the couple were married, but the woman had been staying with a friend, who called cops when he started attacking.

The two officers involved in the shooting in San Jose, California, are now on paid leave.

SHANG-HIGH: Workers on China's huge pylons need nerves of steel and sphincters equally strong

China builds world's TALLEST pylon and workers all wear BICYCLE CLIPS

IT'S never a good time to poo your pants...but for these guys, it could be DEADLY!

By SIMON DEAN
simon@sundaysport.co.uk

Nerves-of-steel sparkies working atop the world's tallest electricity pylons have to wear BICYCLE CLIPS in case they drop a fear-filled pebble.

Because a single plop would be travelling at such a speed by the time it reached the ground, anyone hit by it would be KILLED instantly!

The bike clips are just one of many safety conditions imposed on the workers building the towers between Anhui province to Shanghai in China.

At a height of 885ft – equivalent to a 90-storey building – the 1,421pylons are set to carry an ultra-high voltage cable to China's high-tech industrial heartland.

The men have until the end of 2013 to finish the ambitious project.

One worker, who asked to remain anonymous said: "It's OK if you don't look down – or shit in your overalls!"

My lads' holiday ended with live lesbo sex show

Dear Krystal,

THIS summer I went to Greece on a lads' holiday.

We had a great time with the reps, who are as up-for-it as everyone says.

By the end of our first night my mates had porked several fat slags and we were all having a whale of a time – so to speak!

I'd promised my girlfriend I'd be faithful so the closest I'd come to shagging was when one of my pals brought home a boiler and started banging her in the single bed next to mine.

But on the last night I was totally pissed and managed to lose all my mates.

I decided to make my own way back to the hotel and got a little lost trying to find my room, wandering down several corridors.

At the end of one of these corridors I caught a glimpse of two women necking outside a room.

I walked towards them and then to my surprise they invited me in.

They were both Geordie lasses and quite good-looking.

Moist

One was a cute little blonde and the other was a redhead with massive knockers.

They explained they were both lesbians – so I couldn't join in – and they enjoyed having an audience sometimes.

So I sat on the balcony as they took off ther clothes and settled down on the couch.

They started off with some heavy snogging – it was a real turn-on seeing their tongues all over the place while they grabbed and rubbed each others' boobs.

Then they were soon on their backs and taking it in turns to lick each other's moist fannies.

The hot babes were then putting fingers up both holes and licking and chewing on fanny lips while I just sat and watched.

I think they must have known how sexually frustrating it was for me – being just a spectator to their live lesbo sex show.

So they took pity on me and let me jerk off over their tits.

But last weekend I told my girlfriend about it and she booted me in the balls and told me I was dumped.

But I don't think I did anything wrong – did I?

JR, Cambs

Krystal says:

YES — you told her .

Dear Krystal,

AFTER getting pissed with my bird and her best mate last weekend I ended up shagging both of them.

My girlfriend was well up for it, frigging herself off as I butt-fed her pal over the couch.

Then the missus licked my plums and her mate's chuff before I turned my attention on her.

But the next day, when my girl had sobered up, she went mad at me saying I'd taken advantage of the situation.

She's now threatening to finish with me – so I'll never see her mate round at ours again either.

What should I do?

SD, Devon

Krystal says:

TELL her she took advantage of YOU – she was all over your plums, for f*'s sake!

Dear Krystal,

I HAVE just returned from a Spanish holiday with my boyfriend.

We were in this club one night and we had a massive bust-up and he stormed out.

I'm 5ft 6in with long brown hair and 32D boobs.

The barmaid had seen and heard the argument and said her shift was almost over and asked me to join her for a drink.

We got a bit tipsy and then staggered off down the road together.

She was taller than me with great tits and took me back to my room.

My boyfriend wasn't there and we fell on the bed and began to snog and fondle each other.

Her lips were so soft as she explored my mouth with her tongue.

Then she began to rub my pussy and slipped two fingers up and sent me into a furious orgasm.

Next we got in the 69 position and brought each other off.

Now we're back home I'd like to try a threesome with my fella but I'm afraid to bring the idea up in case he thinks I've cheated on him.

Any ideas?

TG, East Midlands

Krystal says:

SURPRISE him – bring a sexy mate back with you one night. I'm sure he'll love it.

Dear Krystal,

SINCE my long-term girlfriend left me I have been forced to pay professional girls for their sex services.

I was a bit lonely and I have urges – the same as every other fella.

So I tried all sorts of different girls but now I've got a regular session with a 27-year-old lady.

She's good-looking and the sex is amazing.

OK, I have to pay for it, but she'll let me do anything – including anal – and I really feel there is a bit of a relationship developing.

Do you think we have any kind of a future?

EC, West Midlands

Krystal says:

YOU'RE on the rebound – so don't expect any more. If you're happy paying for it, no problem.

Dear Krystal,

ME and my pals enjoy a good night out and we've done all sorts of daft things.

The latest was to hire a luxury coach to take us to a lap dancing bar in another town 60 miles away.

We were soon well-pissed and spent ages watching these gorgeous babes gyrate in front of us.

It got us worked up and on the way back one of the lads suggested going to a massage parlour.

I'd never been to one before and was amazed to find the place full of beautiful women.

I chose a blonde in her 20s – about the same age as me, in fact.

I got the full treatment as she sucked my dick.

Then I lay back as she rode me.

Afterwards we were still eager, so I took her up the arse.

I fancy her so much I'm thinking about going back, but it's a long way.

What do you think?

LT, Herts

Krystal says:

I'D put it down to experience and look forward to your next night out.

Best mate's mum took me for a ride

Dear Krystal,

MY next door neighbour invited me round for a drink the other night.

She's 44, and has a great body and a lovely pair of tits.

I'm quite a bit younger at 28.

She told me her hubby works away a lot and then started kissing me.

We went to her bedroom and she got my cock out and sucked me off.

She was pretty good at it too.

Then I took her skirt and knickers off and licked her out.

She was absolutely loving it and begged me to f* her so I boned her from behind and then up the arse as well.

I love it when a bird is dirty in the bedroom like her.

I've shagged her again once since then and she now says she wants to make it a regular thing.

But her husband looks a right hard-case.

What should I do?

PF, Essex

Krystal says:

MAKE sure you don't get caught.

Dear Krystal,

MY best mate's mum is really fit.

She's 40, blonde and likes to show off her fantastic figure by wearing skimpy outfits when she works behind the bar in our local pub.

I've fancied her for ages but because I'm 18 I didn't think I stood a chance.

The other added complication is that she's married, of course.

One night last month she offered to give me a lift home from the pub, when she'd finished her shift, but instead of going straight home she took me to a deserted car park and asked me if I'd like a blowjob!

I couldn't believe my luck.

Before I could say 'yes', she had my cock out and began sucking it. Then she slipped off her panties and clambered over and on to the back seat where she finger-fed herself for a while before I joined her.

So I jumped on in there and shagged her until she screamed.

We have it off regularly and the sex is fantastic.

The only problem I can see is that my mate and his dad will find out at some point and give me a dig.

What should I do?

RT, Dorset

Krystal says:

OLDER women are great for showing younger lads the ropes, so to speak.

But I think you should find yourself a girl your own age – quick. Before your mate and his dad give you a good hiding!

Real girls getting 'em out

Lynne, 38 from Ilfracombe
This is the tan I got in my back garden...I wouldn't dare go on the beach in a bikini this small...too many people know me! Whenever I wear it our neighbour always decides to pop round! Pervo!

The girls who get 'em out are the genuine partners of Sport readers and have no connection to any of the adverts that appear on these pages. If you want to be a star without a bra send your picture to realgirls@sundaysport.co.uk and we'll get back to you

You really should at least try it with a girl like me..I guarantee you wouldn't ever forget it.

Please don't ever think of me as a gay guy with boobs. If you must define me by my body parts, I'd much rather you thought of me as a girl with a penis...a rather nice penis, actually...shame it will have to go, one day!

Until then I'm happy to tuck it away and just bring it out on special occasions! LOL!

I love dancing, going to the movies and quiet nights in with a bottle of wine.

I also love men who treat me like a lady, who will seduce me, slowly undress me when make sure I am fully satisfied before they have their orgasm.

I love an explosion in my face, my breasts or even all over my front or back bottom!

Naked driver was tossing on busy highway

A MOTORIST was arrested after he was spotted pulling his pud STARK NAKED – while driving along a busy highway.

A lorry driver spotted Benjamin Levaughn Reed, 57, when he overtook his vehicle and called police.

Highway patrolmen raced to the scene and flagged over Reed's car. But, by that time, he was fully clothed and, according to the police report: "Not engaged in masturbatory behaviour."

But the eagle-eyed trucker picked him out from a lineup.

Reed, 57, of Rockmart near Cedartown, Georgia, was arrested and charged with a misdemeanor charge of public indecency.

He was released the same day after paying a £150 fine.

The trucker, Harry V. Westerson, said: "Hell, I've seen some darned things driving this rig of mine up and down the highway but don't this just take the shot hog?"

POLICE searching a robbery suspect's home for stolen gems found five thousand pairs of spunk-stained ladies' PANTIES!

Danai Raiwech, 48, was arrested at his home in a suburb of Bangkok, Thailand, after police searched his property in connection with a £300,000 heist at a jewellers.

His wife was found wearing items of stolen jewellery, but during the search officers also uncovered bags full of underwear.

"He confessed he obsesses over the underwear and uses the items for masturbation," said Police Colonel Napanwut Liamsanguan told newsmen.

"He collected it for many years, stealing it from houses or apartments three or five each time. I stopped counting at 2,000 pieces of underwear but there must be more than 5,000 of them I'm sure," he said.

His wife was aware of his problem but he had refused to seek help the cop added.

Police found more than a thousand items of underwear in the trunk of Danai's car after they arrested him for burglary, while several thousand more were uncovered at his house. He was bailed after admitting stealing and keeping women's smalls since the age of 18.

Napanwut said he would be charged for jewellery theft but added it would be difficult to prosecute for the underwear without having a complaints from owners.

FAVE FILM: The Hangover

FIRST TIME

SARAH: What was your first time like?
TRACY: Mine was good, actually. I went on holiday with my mum and dad to Cyprus and we made friends with the guys who ran the watersports centre.

There was this one fella, Yiannis, which is John in English, and he took a real shine to me. I really fancied him too and that's who I lost my cherry to. I was 17.

SARAH: That's nice – sounds romantic. I was really worried about being the last girl in my year to lose mine so after our A-levels me and a few friends sneaked off to Blackpool

We were only 18 but managed to blag our way into a posh nightclub and met all these footballers. They were dead fit, not famous ones, just a low division team.

Anyway, I ended up going back to one of their hotel rooms – the club we were in was part of the hotel – and that's when I lost it.

He had a pretty big willy, too, and it didn't half hurt, but I was glad to have finally done it.

CAUGHT OUT

TRACY: I once got caught shagging the chef from the pub where I used to work in the car park.

It was so embarrassing. It was a bit quiet in the kitchen. I used to wash the pots, so we nipped out to his car – a Ford Mondeo – for a bit of rumpy.

Anyway, our boss came out and caught us. We pretended we were having a fag but he wasn't convinced.

He looked at me and said: "Do you normally have your skirt around your waist when you smoke?"

SARAH: I got caught by my mum. She'd gone off to work so I got my boyfriend round and we were having a right good time.

I was being really noisy because I thought we had the house for the night. But she forgot her bag and came home.

She went mad. There was no denying what I'd been doing. She could hear us, or me, at the end of the drive, and I was only about 16.

She'd been shouting me from the bottom of the stairs for ages when I finally realised she was home, so I went down all sheepish and got a right bollocking.

My boyfriend had to wait for her to go back out before he'd come down and we split up shortly after. I think he was scared of my mum.

AL FRESCO

SARAH: Have you ever had sex outdoors?
TRACY: I did it on the beach on my holiday with the Greek bloke. That was my first time, actually. It was on a boat at the watersports centre.

At least I didn't end up with sand in my knickers!

SARAH: I did it with my boyfriend on the pitch at the local rugby club. The floodlights came on and everyone saw us running off with no clothes on.

I was mortified. They used to have a disco there every Saturday night and all my mates saw us in the buff.

RABBITING ON

SARAH: Have you got any sex toys?
TRACY: No, but I'd really like a Rampant Rabbit. They're supposed to be good.
SARAH: I've got one – it's really good. It makes me have an orgasm in less than a minute.

The only thing is it's quite noisy and sometimes I worry my housemates can hear it. I usually only get it out when I'm ped and I don't care!

TRACY: Ha ha! Can you get me one for Christmas?
SARAH: Yes, I'll have a look for a quiet one for you.

FANTASIES

SARAH: One of mine is to make a sex tape. I think it would be really horny but the problem is, with Facebook now, you just can't trust people, can you?

I'd never do it with another student but what I am thinking of is doing it when I go on holiday in the summer if I pull.

TRACY: Yeah, but they might not want to be filmed!
SARAH: I've thought about that and if we just film our naughty bits then who would know who it was?
TRACY: True. I'd like to have a fella dress up as a policeman, handcuff me to the bed and have his wicked way with me.

But it would have to be a boyfriend – I'm not letting a random do that!

LADY LOVING

TRACY: Have you ever snogged a girl?
SARAH: Yeah, I kissed my best friend from school once but just as a laugh when we were drunk in the pub. I don't really fancy women.
TRACY: I got off with a girl once when I was at my old hockey club.

We'd been at a presentation evening and went in the toilet together to have a cheeky drink of vodka.

We were 16 and it was a no-booze do. We just had a kiss, but I'd like to take it further with the right girl.

BUM'S THE WORD

SARAH: What about anal? Have you ever done that?
TRACY: The Greek man used to like a bit of bum fun. He stuck his finger up there once when he was going down on me and it was OK.

I think it was because I was just about to come and I was really turned on. But another time we tried anal and it wasn't very nice.

We did it for a bit then I said I'd had enough, so I guess I've done it, but not a proper session.

SARAH: I tried it with my first boyfriend. We used to do it quite a bit – well, about once a month – and I was seeing him for a year.

We were a right pair! He did use lots of lube, though, and he wasn't that well hung so I reckon that's why it was OK.

WILLY SIZE

SARAH: I don't think it matters if a guy hasn't got a big one, do you?
TRACY: Well, I like a decent size. I think width is important. I'm not bothered about it being that long.
SARAH: I totally agree. I once shagged a man with a cock like a Peperami – really long but really thin. It was more like a tickle!
TRACY: Ugh! That's not a mental image I want in my head. I once shagged a bloke who was really long and really thick.

I joked that I needed a stepladder to get on it! It was a bit of a struggle but I managed!

Crap day to be a diamond smuggler

CUSTOMS officers gave a smuggler LAXATIVES which made him shit out 200 diamonds after he was caught trying to sneak out of the country with the loot.

The unnamed Lebanese man was picked up trying to board a flight to Dubai at OR Tambo International Airport near Johannesburg, South Africa.

The gems were valued at £1.4million and specialist officers believed the man was part of a wider smuggling syndicate.

"The diamonds were immediately released," customs spokesman Captain Paul Ramaloko explained.

He declined to fully explain the police's procedure in such incidents as he said it was "not for public consumption".

Ramaloko said the police had to clean the diamonds before they could be logged as evidence.

He said: "We do not know whether he had swallowed the diamonds before he came to the airport or during arrest."

South Africa is one of the world's most prolific producers of diamonds, which are also mined commercially in neighbouring Botswana and Zimbabwe.

Kitchen sex orgy teacher freed early

A FORMER high school teacher convicted of having drink and drug-induced orgies with FIVE students has been freed after serving just one year of a four-year sentence.

Stacy Schuler, 34, walked out of a Marysville, Ohio prison after a judge granted her leniency, nearly 13 months after being imprisoned for having sex with students on her kitchen counter and in her shower.

The gym teacher was convicted of 16 counts of sexual battery and three counts of providing alcohol to a minor for her sexual encounters with Mason High School students at her Springboro home in 2010.

Schuler said: "I continue to pray that God brings peace to the families who have been harmed by my actions."

ALLEY OOPS!

BOOZY Courtney Malloy, 22, had to be rescued by firemen after she tried to take a short cut through an eight inch-wide alleyway near Brown University, Rhode Island and got wedged!

PRE drinks last night and things got a bit rowdy with several noise complaints. Not wanting to be out of order (kids living next door) we make our way out, only to be stopped by the police as we are leaving the door. They march us back inside for what we assume is going to be some sort of fine/warning etc. This is until the three officers, all sporting spectacular handlebar moustaches, saw our Charlie Chaplins, gave us a quick slap on the wrist and told us to have a great night!

PICTURE the scene: Thursday evening in Glasgow City Centre. It's rush hour. Traffic isn't moving, cars are nose to tail. Next thing, all you hear is Gangnam Style blaring from a car stereo. "Tune" I say, foot tapping in appreciation of a catchy number by the Asian dude – who I cannot understand, but lyrics mean nothing when you have moves like him. All of a sudden some LAD jumps out from the passenger side of said motor and starts doing Gangnam Style. This was much to the joy and delight of stressed-out commuters, on a busy journey home, in the middle of stationary rush hour traffic, in the middle of Glasgow city centre.

TEACHING my reception class and I said to a child called Tommy: "If you have five pieces of bacon, and you give two to John, how much pieces of bacon do you have?" He answered, "five". So I asked him why he said "five" and he replied with a straight face, "I LOVE bacon – so I wouldn't give John any."

MY dad's got a Russian mate who got caught speeding down a country road. A policeman pulled him over and asked: "Can you tell me why you were doing 80mph in a 40mph zone?" The Russian (in his strong accent) replied: "Because I saw you in my mirror and slowed down."

*RussianLAD

WAS at the dentist earlier and for some reason he told me he was going to drill the back of my teeth or something. I zoned out at the time. Anyway, whatever he was doing hurt like a bitch but I didn't wince or flinch once – for the simple reason the dentist's assistant was a solid 7/10! When the birds are around I feels no pain.

*ShowNoPainForGainLAD

CAME back pretty fed from a night out. Sadly unsuccessful in the pulling stakes. But that wasn't the end of it – my drunken state of mind decided that a brilliant 3am activity was to go online and try and chat up some foreign girls on a chatroom. After around 10 minutes of slim pickings, along came a 8/10 American girl with her mate. We get talking and my British charm shines through (US girls literally go mad for the accent/dry sense of humour). One thing leads to another, she messages me her Skype address and we take conversation on from there. Then she proceeds to give me a striptease before she starts pleasuring herself – on cam. I've now learnt that just because you didn't pull doesn't mean the night's over just yet.

*StikesLuckyOnlineLAD

GOT home at 5am from a night out with the LADs. Microwaved some food and sat in front of the TV watching the free porn on. Was so smashed I passed out. Woke up a few hours later to notice my dadLAD had come downstairs and taken the plate away. And the TV was still on, blaring out that "Babestation programmes will be starting at 10.00pm".

JUSTIN

Your stars with Britain's

CAPRICORN (22 Dec – 19 Jan): Chances are there has been enough excitement lately – and the party is not over yet. In fact, you may be forced to cut down on the socialising and entertaining for a while, even if you are forced to deal with some rather troublesome friends. As it is, the Sun enters the most private area of your chart on Wednesday – though it will probably be the following day that you come across a situation which is deeply confusing. You would rather choose to live in blissful ignorance.

AQUARIUS (20 Jan – 18 Feb): No doubt you will be more successful or at your most ambitious as the week begins – even though you may still have to fight the system. Fortunately, you have some powerful allies or friends in high places and can afford to be choosy or selective when it comes to the company you keep. True enough, the Sun enters Sagittarius around midweek and you will be actively pursued. Don't, however, feel too sorry for those who think they're deprived. You are poor yourself.

PISCES (19 Feb – 20 Mar): You may be on a long journey or increasingly on the move and have no time to deal with the real world. Forget fantasy land and focus on how you can achieve your aims. The Sun enters Sagittarius on Wednesday and is immediately challenged by Neptune in Aquarius. Ambitious or not, you might have to lower your expectations for some reason. No matter, all sorts of doors are about to open, the kind you never knew existed.

ARIES (21 Mar – 19 Apr): In some ways you should be feeling a bit more comfortable or secure, even though you are still waiting for the funds to come in. At the same time, you need to keep any purchases to a minimum and put some money away for a variety of causes. In particular, the Sun moving into your ninth house is supposed to affect your long-term plans, including travel arrangements. Simply, that what comes to light on Thursday could throw a tiny spanner in the works. Patience is a virtue.

TAURUS (20 Apr – 20 May): True, partners or other individuals may refuse to listen to reason, even though they have no defense for their actions. In any case, you are bound to experience a reawakening, despite wondering if you and someone else should stay together. No matter, the benefits could be enormous, as you will discover around midweek. After that it turns out a close friend is not entirely on the level. Luckily, you don't need their approval.

GEMINI (21 May – 20 Jun): You have more energy and staying power than usual, even though you detest having to do all the donkey work. Nevertheless, most, if not all, of your problems are over – despite the fact that a major alteration of some kind is indicated and you could start the week complaining that time is against you. What's the hurry? Either way, once the Sun enters Sagittarius – your opposite sign this Wednesday – one relationship will develop rapidly and with such tenderness.

CANCER (21 Jun – 22 Jul): As far as your personal life is concerned, this could be the moment of truth. There is no lack of feeling, that's for sure, even though you must be more forceful if you want others to remain involved. Happily, this shouldn't be too much of a concern. Added to which, the Sun changes signs on Wednesday and it's back to work. True, it may not be easy to let go. But your whole routine is about to change and there's something more challenging in store.

LEO (23 Jul – 22 Aug): Home, family and property matters are still to the fore and you may be dealing with a lot of clutter. No matter. Everything should be fairly ship-shape as the week gets underway and then you can fully concentrate on the personal side of life. For you, the Sun in Sagittarius from Wednesday onwards should make your heart throb wildly. However, there is no reason to go too overboard and avoid cheap goods, particularly on Thursday, fancy prices or not.

HAS JUSTIN TOPER BEEN SPOT ON WITH YOUR STARS? – HE WAS FOR THESE READERS...

GIVE me a break, Justin – how can you always get it so right?

I honestly can't believe that you predicted me having a surprise encounter last week, and then I went and bumped into an old flame I hadn't seen in years. We got on great and are going out for drinks this weekend. Thanks a million, you star!

Bernadette, Milton Keynes

YOU can take the boy out of Cornwall, but you can't take Cornwall out of the boy... or so I thought!

I have lived in the county all my life and never considered leaving. But the other week you mentioned a change of scene and, low and behold, I have been offered a job in Dubai. What's more, I'm going to take it. Spooky!

Age 26, 36DD-24-34, from Lambeth, south London

VIRGO (23 Aug – 22 Sep): There is bound to be a flurry of news, activity or excitement, though you must go over any plans in minute detail. As usual, everything is far an appointed time and you could meet with a bit of resistance. Indeed, partners or those at home are inclined to confuse matters after midweek and you may be forced to re-think your plans. But, on the face of it, what is being organised is fated and you should be eager to move.

LIBRA (23 Sep – 22 Oct): Don't ponder on recent losses or impulse buys as there is far more at stake than that. Also, think of all the money you have saved. Chances are you will still receive some severance pay – or even something more substantial as this week commences. Then the Sun enters Sagittarius and the emphasis is on new and exciting plans. Just don't be surprised if you are led astray around Thursday. Mostly, you see this as a blessing in disguise and will take purposeful stride.

SCORPIO (23 Oct – 21 Nov): This is one time when you won't be withdrawn or reserved. In fact, for personal reasons you are bound to be greatly affected by what is taking place – as long as you profit or learn from your experiences. In fact, no matter how passionate you are about a new enterprise, your plans could go up in smoke later this week. In truth, you are not that possessive and are certainly prepared to take a loss, knowing that you are getting something infinitely more worthwhile.

SAGITTARIUS (22 Nov – 21 Dec): Through the din of recent events there is a grander scheme and the thrill is too great to keep quiet or silent about. The real reason for secrecy is more complex, but most of your fears or insecurities will be dispelled as the week begins. Then the Sun finally enters Sagittarius on Wednesday and no doubt you will be on great form. What happens close to home is a hint of what's to come, though you won't be sitting out in the street.

LILLO'S RINGPIECE

STEVE LILLIS' KNOCKOUT BOXING COLUMN

Life has kicked me in the arse, but I've had enough of feeling sorry for myself now

TEAR WE GO: Ricky Hatton says he might end up blubbing on his ring return

RICKY HATTON admits his ring walk on Saturday night could trigger a flood of tears.

Britain's best-loved boxer ever will end a three-and-a-half-year ring exile when he faces Ukrainian Vyacheslav Senchenko at Manchester Arena.

Since being obliterated inside two rounds by Manny Pacquiao in May 2009, Hatton has battled many problems including drink, drugs and depression.

He hasn't spoken to his parents for two years and also paid a hefty lump of cash to former best friend and trainer Billy Graham following a bitter legal battle.

Hatton has shed more than 60lb to make the 10st 7lb welterweight limit and said: "Walking to the ring will be very emotional because I'm a very proud person.

Choking

"I always get emotional with my ring walks. You start to think how many sacrifices you've made to get where you are.

"I'll start thinking about my son, Campbell, and also my daughter, Millie.

"I'll be thinking of all the bad things that have happened to me. Life has kicked me in the arse – some of it my fault and some of it not my fault.

"The fallout with the family, the fallout with Billy Graham, getting beaten by Pacquiao, all the trouble I've found myself in.

"I could easily shed a tear on the ring walk when Blue Moon kicks in. I really will be choking them back.

"But I've got to use that in a positive manner and unleash it all on Senchenko. That's what a champion has to do.

"I've had enough feeling sorry for myself now. Everyone knows the story.

"Now I've got my nasty, horrible head on. Shit happens to us all. Just get over it you whingeing fer and get on with beating him."

Hatton and trainer Bob Shannon have spent a 12-week training camp preparing for the 10-rounder where all 20,000 tickets were sold even before former WBA champ Senchenko was named.

Hatton has often turned to one of his idols, Sugar Ray Leonard, for guidance while conquering demons.

The five-weight world champ has battled booze and cocaine addiction.

Hatton added: "He was talking about when he had his problems with depression and drink.

Drunk

"Like an idiot, I automatically thought, 'What has he got to worry about? He's Sugar Ray Leonard'.

"Just because you're the world champion and everybody thinks the sun shines out of your arse doesn't mean you're any different to the next man.

"I've got this lovely gym that I'm proud of and a nice house that me and my family live in – boxing has been very, very good to me.

"But none of that could do anything for me when I wanted to kill myself."

Hatton insists the days of rolling around Manchester drunk and weighing more than 15 stone are history whatever the outcome around 11pm on Saturday.

He told Lillo's Ringpiece: "You'll see me with a pint from time to time but it will be nice to see me with a pint and a smile on my face, rather than crying into it like a wet lettuce.

"Those days are gone."

We're also about to find out if his best boxing days are a thing of the past.

UKRAINIAN HAS A BIG CHENK IN HIS ARMOUR

PAULIE MALIGNAGGI believes Vyacheslav Senchenko hasn't got the bottle to take down Ricky Hatton.

"The Magic Man" was beaten in 11 rounds by Hatton four years ago, but took Senchenko's WBA welterweight crown in April, beating Senchenko in nine – the Ukrainian's only loss in 33 fights.

The New Yorker's win in Donetsk was a huge upset and Malignaggi said: "I noticed when I fought him that mentally he isn't that strong.

"Being away from home, I'm not sure how hungry Senchenko is. He didn't seem very hungry when he started taking punches from me!

"If he isn't mentally strong he might be folding before the first bell even rings, because when Ricky comes out of the locker room the crowd will be so noisy they may blow the roof off."

Malignaggi (left) will be ringside next week and speculation is rife that he and Hatton will have a rematch in Brooklyn in February.

The Yank added: "Hatton is very difficult to beat in England. He's very hungry and has that look in his eye where he wants it bad and he'll stop at nothing to get it."

EXCELLENCY A PIPE DREAM

CHANNEL 4 TELLY TIPS
By STEVE MULLEN

1.10 CHEL: HIS EXCELLENCY looks the answer to an open contest for David Pipe and Tom Scudamore.

The four-year-old went into many a notebook when cruising to victory over course and distance last month in a good quality novices chase. He had more in hand than the official one-and-a-quarter length winning margin suggests and there should be plenty more to come.

The main danger should be Captain Conan who is highly thought of at Nicky Henderson's yard. He did well over hurdles last season but should do even better over these bigger obstacles.

1.45 CHEL: PERSIAN SNOW is worth a dabble in a race where most contenders look to have a viable chance.

Philip Hobbs' six-year-old is at his best over this sort of trip so he did well to finish a close-up third over two miles here last time out. He was boxing on at the finish and will have no problem with a little bit of cut in the ground.

The presence of five Irish horses make this an especially tough race to read but the pick of the raiding party looks to be Maller Tree. He won well at Naas last time and won't be far away.

2.05 FONT: INCENTIVISE showed his liking for a stamina test when winning at Bangor last time and can follow up.

He wasn't stopping over 3m1f there and has won over this testing distance before. A 5lb rise in the weights look fair for that win.

Air Force One has lost his way a little since the days when he chased home Kauto Star in the Cheltenham Gold Cup. He needed his comeback outing when not knocked about at Wincanton last time and is capable of running into the frame for trainer Charlie Mann.

2.20 CHEL: Anything other than a win for SPRINTER SACRE would be a major stunner and party time for the bookies.

He won the Arkle Trophy at last year's Festival and underlined that he's the best novice chaser around by following up at Aintree's Grand National meeting.

He's won all five of his chase starts so far without breaking sweat and will surely make it six. If you're doing the forecast, Wishfull Thinking can fill the runner-up spot.

2.50 CHEL: DARLAN is a worthy favourite in the type of cavalry charge that could give an aspirin headaches.

He landed three good wins last season and it would have been four had he not fallen late on at Newbury when he would have won pulling a bus.

He finished the season well, with a second in the Supreme Novices' Hurdle at Cheltenham followed by a convincing victory at Aintree.

The top weight is a slight worry but he's much more than a handicapper and can show it here.

Looking for dangers, Harry Derham takes a valuable 7lb off Prospect Wells for champ Paul Nicholls, who's also using claiming jockey Ryan Mahon for Dark Lover. It would be no surprise to see either or both finish in the places.

Dave Firmager is England's most powerful breeder and top trainer to boot. Very rarely does he do interviews or pass on information but he is glad to for Sunday Sport.

He advises we follow ROMEO HI RUMBLE, a February 2011 whelp who runs next on Monday at Nottingham T4 21.22. Over the coming months David thinks it will pay to follow his young gun.

STUPID PUNTS

STEVEN GERRARD'S 100th cap was overshadowed by another player's great performance.

So it was no different from his other 99 caps.

The pundits were head over heels for Sweden's Zlatan Ibrahimovic. Many claimed his overhead kick in the 4-2 victory was the greatest goal ever scored.

It was an amazing goal but surely it can't count as the greatest as it was scored after a goalkeeping howler against a poor side in a meaningless friendly.

It's like the time I scored a bicycle kick screamer after I gate-crashed an under-10s five-a-side game.

Zlatan should now surely get the credit he deserves, for being one of the maddest players in world football.

My personal favourite Zlatan moment was, when asked about gay rumours by a female reporter, he replied: "Come to my house and see. And bring your sister."

After the game Alex Salmond is said to be preparing a referendum for Scottish voters to make Ibrahimovic the new patron saint of Scotland.

The FA also announced after the game that Leon Osman would be awarded two caps for his debut – his first and his last. It was a bad week too for another Radio 1 legend, Dave Lee Travis.

It didn't surprise me as it turns out he was heard in millions of teenagers' bedrooms in the 70s.

West Ham were big in the 70s and 80s and they've got off to a fantastic start this season.

YESTERDAY'S RU INTERNATIONALS

DELIGHT: Australia's Kurtley Beale

WALLABIES COOK UP A BIG SHOCK

ENGLAND 14
AUSTRALIA 20

ENGLAND crashed to a resurgent Australia in this Cook Cup clash – a defeat they may still be regretting in three years' time.

The Wallabies came back from their 33-6 thumping in France last week to dominate and leave England's chances of being a top seed at their home Rugby World Cup in 2015 looking remote.

England enjoyed a half-time lead thanks to a contentious try from Manu Tuilagi after Nick Cummins had scored his first international try for the Wallabies.

But Australia turned the screw after half-time – with Berrick Barnes kicking 15 points in total.

Stuart Lancaster's side will rue their bold decisions to kick second-half penalties to touch instead of taking points.

They now face an uphill battle to join the top band of World Cup seeds when the draw is made on December 4.

Tody Flood gave England – playing in a new maroon kit – an early lead with a penalty.

Flood and Barnes swapped penalties before the England stand-off nudged his side in front again.

Rampaging

But with half-time approaching, the match sparked into life.

Danny Care's loose kick was collected by his opposite number Nick Phipps and he raced clear before feeding Cummins to dive over in the corner.

England moved upfield in response and sent Tuilagi rampaging towards the line.

Phipps got hands to the Leicester centre but he just managed to touch down on the line – although he did need a lengthy replay review to prove his case.

Australia were back in the groove straight after the interval, Barnes and Kurtley Beale pulling the strings and the Wallaby pack edging the set-piece battle.

England's response was to send on replacements. Mako Vunipola burst though and Chris Ashton arrowed towards the corner before being tackled into touch.

England twice turned down penalty shots at goal. It almost worked but Thomas Waldrom lost control as he tried to ground the ball.

FRUSTRATED: Robinson

SCOTLAND 10
SOUTH AFRICA 21

SCOTLAND head coach Andy Robinson admitted his team had been "bullied" by South Africa at Murrayfield.

Robinson saw his team give the Springboks a helping hand by gifting them points – particularly when Mike Blair's wayward pass allowed Adrian Strauss to score his second try of the afternoon.

He said: "We've got a lot to learn in improving defence and also in attack, particularly physically.

"I felt they bullied us a little in the first half."

Robinson wants to see a reaction to the result, and last week's more punishing loss to New Zealand.

He added: "Next week against Tonga we need a performance there to put together the lessons they have learned from the first two games."

A typically bullish Springboks outfit led 14-3 at half-time thanks to hooker Strauss scoring the only try.

He scored again after the break and while replacement scrum-half Henry Pyrgos crossed for the hosts, South Africa's defence kept Scotland at bay.

Greig Laidlaw slotted a penalty and conversion for the home side, while Pat Lambie managed four kicks for the Boks.

The result makes it four defeats on the bounce for Scotland at Murrayfield.

Saha's planning raid on Cottage

FUL OF HOPE: Saha is eyeing a raid on his old club, for whom Berbatov (right) is in sparkling form

BLACK Cats striker Louis Saha is desperate for a chance to shoot down his former club.

But the striker's chances of making a reappearance at Craven Cottage depend on the fitness of Steven Fletcher – and the rebirth of Connor Wickham.

Fletcher, responsible for five of the six goals scored by Sunderland players this season, is a major doubt with a calf injury.

Saha is the obvious replacement after making eight appearances as a substitute, and he said: "I'm working hard to make sure I am ready when I get my chance."

FULHAM v SUNDERLAND
Today, 4pm – Sky Sports 1

But manager Martin O'Neill has been impressed by Wickham, and proved it by turning down several bids to take him on loan in the past week.

O'Neill said: "Connor has been doing exceptionally well in training over the last few weeks and that's very promising.

"It's been a tough time for him because he's come here with a big price tag and he's at a pretty tender age. In the course of time, we will see a real player."

Wickham is likely to be on the bench, with Saha's experience giving him the edge if Fletcher fails a fitness test today.

Saha added: "I really enjoyed that time at Fulham and scored many goals. It's something you never forget.

Bargain

"I think that Fulham have done great.

"They've played European football and that's the way forward. Sunderland need to copy that."

Martin Jol says he thought it would be "impossible" for Fulham to land Dimitar Berbatov. But after pulling off the coup, the Cottages boss might have just landed the bargain signing of the season.

Berbatov, 31, has already scored five times in seven eye-catching appearances.

The ex-Manchester United striker has played a key role in Fulham's rise up the table.

"I wasn't determined to get him as I thought it would be impossible," said Jol.

"If you remember he was at the airport flying to Italy and I thought it wouldn't come off.

"After the phone call he changed his mind and came back."

HEADING WEST? Anelka could fancy moving back to London

ALLARDYCE: I'D LOVE TO PICK UP NIC IN WINDOW

WEST HAM v STOKE
Monday, 8pm – Live on Sky Sports 1

SAM ALLARDYCE wants Nicolas Anelka to boost West Ham's hopes of a top-10 finish.

The French striker played for Big Sam at Bolton and currently earns £250,000 a week playing for Chinese side Shanghai Shenhua.

But Allardyce is hoping he can persuade Anelka to return to London to be reunited with his family.

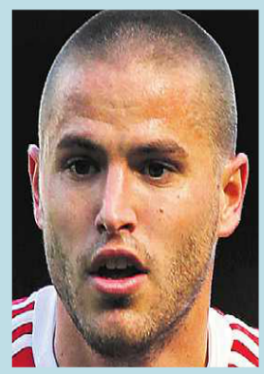
"It could interest me yes, of course it could," he said. "I think Nicolas has still got his family here in London because they didn't move out to China. So it would be of interest if that's a possibility financially and he wanted to come.

"But we have had no conversations with agents at this moment in time."

The Hammers entertain Stoke tomorrow looking to build on their brilliant start.

And Allardyce reckons the Upton Park faithful have enjoyed what they've seen so far this season.

"I don't suppose you ever win over all the fans but what really matters is that we're selling out our tickets," he said.



WING ACE: Kightly

Adventurous

"People are enjoying watching us at home because we're giving good value for money and playing really well.

"They stayed with us against Man City because they understood we were up against £350million of talent so we couldn't be as adventurous as we might have been.

"At the moment we're doing well but we know around the corner there could be a run of results we might struggle with."

Stoke boss Tony Pulis believes he made the right choice in selecting Michael Kightly over Matt Jarvis in the summer.

The Welshman wanted both players from Wolves but only had money for one. He spent £3m on Kightly while Jarvis opted to join West Ham instead.

And Pulis insists he has no regrets ahead of the clash against the Hammers at Upton Park.

He said: "Jarvis was one we were interested in but the deal West Ham paid for him was always going to be a little bit too rich for us.

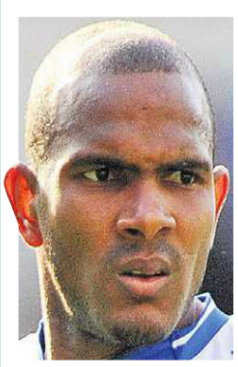
"He is a good honest lad, an old-fashioned winger who gets down the line and gets crosses in. He will give you that service.

"But the deal was a little bit too much for us.

"Michael has been very good for us. He's a great lad and works his socks off.

"He's done exceptionally well for us."

WAR GIVES BATTLE CRY



NEIL WARNOCK takes his depleted Leeds team to the New Den desperate to find a way out of their current slump.

United have gone six games without a win in the league and were thrashed 6-1 at home by Watford last weekend.

Leeds also lost Rodolph Austin (left) to a long-term ankle injury and Michael Brown and Jason Pearce to suspension, leaving their small squad struggling for numbers.

"The whole core, spine of the side has been completely taken out of the team," said Warnock.

MILLWALL v LEEDS
Today, 1.15pm – Sky Sports 1

"Whoever comes in has got to play well and above themselves on the physical side as well."

The Lions are unbeaten in nine, but Warnock is not concerning himself with that.

"It wouldn't worry me who we are playing on Sunday," he added. "Millwall are in a situation where they are bound to feel they have an easy game coming up."

Kenny Jackett's men have been scoring for fun of late and won their last home game by four goals against Huddersfield.

"I feel that all season we've created chances and have had the ability to score goals," said Jackett.

"What we've done of late is do better as a side defensively and the goals against column has been better."

IT'S MERV PAYNE WITH A FAN'S VIEW OF THE FOOTIE WEEK

Zaha so good – but let's not get carried away!

ENGLAND fans will remember an 18-year-old Michael Owen light up the 1998 World Cup, a baby-faced Steven Gerrard shine in the 5-1 demolition of Germany, and a barely-out-of-nappies Wayne Rooney steal the show at Euro 2004.

The feeling among England fans after each of those occasions was: "Wow, just think how good they'll be in five years..." as they dashed off to the nearest bookies to stake their mortgages on impending England domination.

And yet none of these players really fully lived up to that promise.

You could point to bad luck with injuries or poor tactics on the part of various managers.

Or maybe they're just not as good as we thought and found it impossible to live up to the hype.

Now it's Crystal Palace youngster Wilfried Zaha's turn.

Spouting

He's already being hailed as "the new Messi" and found himself bundled into the England squad last week, still undecided whether to tie himself to the Three Lions or the Ivory Coast.

Let's put this into perspective. He's nutmegged a few Barnsley defenders and scored some sensational goals against the likes of Cardiff and Leicester, but he's still very much a work in progress.

Eagles boss Ian Holloway has been spouting about how Zaha is the best he's ever seen, but take that with a pinch of salt.

Holloway knows the score – Zaha represents his transfer kitty when he inevitably leaves, whether that's in January or July, and he'll want the best price he can get.

That's when we'll find out if Zaha is the real deal, but let's just give the lad a chance first, eh?

THERE was a very emotional Skype conversation taking place last weekend as Coronation Street's Helen Flanagan (right) prepared to go into the jungle.

She was chatting to boyfriend and Manchester City player Scott Sinclair (left) and there was tearful talk of feeling out of their depth, a long way from home and wondering whether or not they'd made the right decision.

But Helen reassured Scott that everything would eventually turn out alright at City.

For this week's Fact Hunt I want to know which British footballer scored in three consecutive World Cups against teams from three different continents?

CONN JOB'S BIG PAY-OFF

PETERBOROUGH 1
BLACKBURN 4

JORDAN RHODES hit a hat-trick to hand Henning Berg his first win as Blackburn boss.

Rhodes netted twice in the first half as he took his tally to eight in 14 games for Rovers, adding to the two he scored for Scotland in midweek.

He also played a part in Rovers' opener when his deflected shot three minutes in fell for Mauro Formica to finish.

It was 4-0 when he headed in a Scott Dann nod back from a Formica corner.

HULL 3

SONE ALUKO came back to haunt Birmingham as Hull boss Steve Bruce made a happy return to St Andrew's.

Aluko, a product of the Blues academy, put the Tigers ahead when he rounded keeper Jack Butland after 14 minutes.

He doubled the advantage 12 minutes later with another cool finish before a James Chester header put Hull in total control.

Birmingham hit back on 38 minutes through Ravel Morrison's fierce volley.

BRISTOL CITY 1
BLACKPOOL 1

THOMAS INCE netted an injury-time penalty to earn Blackpool a deserved point.

Bristol City thought they had won it when substitute Steve Davies netted an 81st-minute spot-kick with his first touch after goalkeeper Matt Gilkes brought down Albert Adomah.

But in stoppage time centre-back Matthew Bates handled a right-wing cross on his debut and Ince made no mistake from the spot.

It took two fine saves from City keeper Tom Heaton to deny Ince, while Neil Kilkenny hit the Blackpool crossbar.

MIDDLESBROUGH 0

CARDIFF made it nine straight home wins in the league thanks to a goal from Matt Connolly.

But the victory came at a price, with City boss Malky Mackay losing Ben Turner and Andrew Taylor to injury.

The Bluebirds struck the killer blow inside 19 minutes. A trademark corner to the far post from Peter Whittingham was headed in by Connolly.

Having lost towering centre-half Turner to injury five minutes earlier, it was the perfect tonic for the Welsh side.

City lost a second defender when Taylor limped off after 25 minutes.

With Kevin McNaughton already ruled out, Mackay was forced into a major reshuffle.

Clever

Boro were almost level a minute later but City keeper David Marshall tipped Grant Leadbitter's volley over the bar.

Emmanuel Ledesma came even closer for Boro when he struck a post with a free-kick.

But it was Scott McDonald who had the best chance to equalise before half-time.

Boro threw the kitchen sink at Cardiff at the start of the second half, with McDonald heading over from Ledesma's cross.

The injuries continued to come thick and fast, with Hudson next to leave the field with blood gushing from a head wound.

TROY DEENEY edged Watford closer to the play-offs after condemning 10-man Wolves to another defeat.

Deeney struck the winner against a Wolves side that saw Christophe Berra controversially red-carded after just 25 minutes.

Referee Graham Scott adjudged Berra to have tugged back Deeney and showed the red card.

Wolves then fell behind to Nathaniel Chalobah's (left) first career goal in the 35th minute.

Watford missed a series of chances and were made to pay when Bakary Sako's 54th-minute free-kick flew in.

But Wolves crashed to their fourth away defeat on the bounce when Deeney nodded in the Hornets' 68th-minute winner.

Kev stumbles on a goal

BOLTON 1
BARNSLEY 1

KEVIN DAVIES ended his goal drought but it wasn't enough to get Bolton back to winning ways.

Striker Craig Davies relieved some pressure on Barnsley boss Keith Hill to end a run of four defeats as Dougie Freedman's side went three without a win.

Bolton went ahead in the 24th minute when Davies volleyed in after stumbling when he controlled Chris Eagles' cross.

It was his first goal in eight games and Eagles should have doubled Boton's lead moments later but fired straight at Tykes keeper Luke Steele.

The other Davies got the equaliser in the 65th minute when he fired in a low effort off the post and debut boy Marcus Tudgay should have won it for Barnsley.

But the loan signing fired wide after a spill from Adam Bogdan.

LEE GRANT saved a penalty but couldn't prevent 10-man Burnley slipping to defeat.

The Clarets had right-back Kieran Trippier (below) sent off after just 14 minutes for handling a Rob Hulse header on the line.

Grant pulled off a brilliant save from Charlton skipper Johnnie Jackson's spot-kick but Burnley's resistance cracked after 69 minutes.

Hulse nodded on Jackson's cross and Danny Haynes' well-placed header gave Grant no chance.

Goal ace Charlie Austin couldn't rescue Burnley.

The 20-goal striker fired wide of the target when peresented with his best chance to score for a club record seventh successive home game.

C PALACE 3
DERBY 0

GLENN MURRAY hit two and set up one as Ian Holloway extended his winning start at Palace to three games.

Murray met Yannick Bolasie's 12th-minute corner unmarked to nod home his 14th goal of the season.

Palace made chances at will, with the pace and trickery of Bolasie and new England cap Wilfried Zaha causing problems for Derby's full-backs throughout the game.

The Rams finished the first half on the rack and the second half was no different, with Adam Legzdins forced into a number of smart saves.

But the pressure told as Murray nodded Damien Delaney's long ball into the path of Andre Moritz who fired in.

Murray added a third when he rounded Legzdins to keep Palace top and unbeaten in 14 games.

DYER'S GOT THE KILLER TOUCH

LEICESTER 6
IPSWICH 0

WINGER Lloyd Dyer inspired a six-goal show as Leicester returned to form with a vengeance by demolishing hapless Ipswich.

Dyer was involved in four of Leicester's goals, laying on three and scoring one as he gave the Tractor Boys' defence nightmares with his pace.

He won a penalty after just eight minutes that David Nugent converted.

Nugent (above) doubled the lead before Dyer scored a superb solo effort.

The winger then set up Anthony Knockaert for an easy fourth before half-time.

Martyn Waghorn curled in number five shortly after the interval and substitute Marko Futacs added a sixth after another rampaging Dyer run.

Mig goes nuts for own goal clanger

N FOREST 1
SHEFF WED 0

MIGUEL LLERA'S own goal 16 minutes from time got Forest's promotion bid back on track.

The Sheffield Wednesday defender (above) headed past his own keeper Chris Kirkland from Chris Cohen's cross to gift a first win in four matches for Sean O'Driscoll's men.

Until the Spaniard's clanger it was a day of frustration for both sets of forwards.

Billy Sharp was denied by Kirkland, while at the other end Jay Bothroyd was twice denied by Lee Camp.

And it never looked like being Wednesday's day after sub Jermaine Johnson twice missed second-half sitters and then Bothroyd had an effort cleared off the line by Danny Collins.

HUDDERSFIELD 1
BRIGHTON 2

BIRTHDAY boy Will Buckley scored two classy first-half goals to propel Brighton to only their second win in 10 games.

The striker (below), 23 on Wednesday, curled in the opener after just five minutes from a clever short-corner routine.

Buckley doubled up five minutes before the break.

Keith Southern and Joel Lynch got in a muddle, allowing Craig Mackail-Smith to put Buckley through to fire home.

Buckley was denied further goals by Peter Clarke's goal-line clearance and a good save from keeper Alex Smithies.

Huddersfield grabbed a last-minute goal when Simon Church tapped in the rebound after Peter Brezovan spilled Danny Ward's shot.

Argie aces double trouble for Villa

TWO EASY: Carlos Tevez celebrates scoring the fifth after (below) Sergio Aguero slams home goal number four

MANCHESTER CITY 5
ASTON VILLA 0

SERGIO AGUERO and Carlos Tevez bagged two goals apiece as Man City went on a scoring rampage.

David Silva fired the hosts in front before the break and, after a dodgy decision, Aguero hit the second from the spot.

Tevez fired in a third with another penalty – before celebrating by pretending to turn a steering wheel in a nod to his car being impounded in the week.

Then the Argies added two more as City extended their incredible unbeaten home league run to 36 matches.

Villa started the game in damage limitation mode, piling men behind the ball from the start.

In fact, Paul Lambert's side enjoyed the better chances in the opening period.

Powerhouse Christian Benteke slashed a shot straight at Matija Nastasic on the edge of the box and Joe Hart pulled off a fine block when Vincent Kompany prodded towards his own goal.

Burst

But City came back into it. Maicon drilled in a cross from the right and Samir Nasri's fierce effort was held by Brad Guzan.

And they opened the scoring when Villa failed to clear from Kompany and Tevez efforts and Silva burst on to the loose ball to tap in at the far post.

After the break Tevez crashed a drive just wide as City pressed for a second – which duly arrived thanks to a mad decision from the linesman.

Nasri's corner flew across the box and with the linesman flagging – and no City players complaining – ref Jon Moss pointed to the spot.

Replays showed that the ref might have seen contact with Andreas Weimann's hand, but the ball actually came off Nastasic's head.

Aguero ignored the fuss and stuck the spot-kick in the bottom corner.

And Tevez did the same just after the hour when Barry Bannan handled at Silva's feet.

A couple of minutes later Aguero burst into the box and his powerful strike deflected past the helpless Guzan.

And Tevez lashed in a fifth from Nasri's cross to the far post.

KEEPER CLANGER SO KRUL ON TIM

NEWCASTLE 1
SWANSEA 2

KRUL luck sent Swansea on their way to an impressive win that kept Newcastle tumbling down the table.

A dreadful clearance by keeper Tim Krul was seized on by Pablo Hernandez, who set up Michu for the opener on 58 minutes.

And Jonathan De Guzman wrapped it up late on when he angled in their second after Krul could only block a shot from Danny Graham.

Newcastle, who scored a consolation goal in stoppage time through Demba Ba, can't say they weren't warned as the Swans had looked dangerous throughout the match.

Nathan Dyer and Michu failed to take glorious early chances as injury-hit Toon struggled to really get going.

With Mike Williamson snoozing, Itay Schecter almost marked his first league start with a goal when he drifted behind the defender and forced a good save from Krul 10 minutes before the break.

Drilled

Hatem Ben Arfa went closest to a breakthrough for Newcastle when his 33rd-minute shot was brilliantly turned away by Gerhard Tremmel.

The pattern was similar after the break, with United failing to find the target.

Ba failed to take two good chances and Vurnon Anita drilled over from the edge of the area.

Swansea's threat from breakaways was still obvious, however, and Schechter was guilty of a bad miss when he powered a shot over from inside the area.

But United didn't escape when Michu headed Swansea ahead – and he missed an even easier 77th-minute chance before De Guzman struck again.

Ba's header gave Toon brief hope in stoppage time, but they couldn't find an equaliser as Alan Pardew's men were left with just one win from their last seven Premier League games.

AD'S THE WAY TO DO IT!

EVERTON 1

ADAM LE FONDRE crashed home a late spot-kick to give Reading their first league win.

The Royals striker (left) summed up his team's form – he was terrible in the first half but recovered to score twice in the second.

Everton looked a class above from the start and were a goal up 10 minutes in thanks to a defensive shocker from the Royals. Marouane Fellaini had a shot blocked by Mikele Leigertwood and Adam Federici tried to clear the danger but failed to get the ball to safety.

His defenders then stood by as Steven Naismith nipped in to poke home the rebound.

Le Fondre came close to levelling but, after Tim Howard had strayed off his line, the Royals hitman blasted high and wide.

Reading's frustrations began to show as first Jason Roberts then Kaspars Gorkss were booked for needless fouls.

The Toffees had a penalty shout waved away when Nikica Jelavic's shot was blocked by Sean Morrison's upper arm.

Jay Tabb then cleared Phil Jagielka's header off the line as Reading rode their luck once more. Seven minutes into the second half, Reading finally woke up.

Nicky Shorey curled a free-kick into the box and Le Fondre nipped in front of Seamus Coleman to head the equaliser.

And with 12 minutes to play Coleman stuck an elbow into Le Fondre's back and referee Martin Atkinson pointed to the spot.

Le Fondre made no mistake in slotting home the spot-kick to finally get the Royals' season up and running.

PILKINGTON GOES NUTS TO HALT UNITED TITLE CHARGE

NORWICH 1 MAN UNITED 0

ANTHONY PILKINGTON'S Norwich winner was hard for United to swallow as Wayne Rooney missed out with tonsillitis.

Sir Alex Ferguson saw his side knocked off their perch by noisy neighbours Manchester City, whose 5-0 romp at home to Aston Villa had put them a point clear.

It didn't take Robin van Persie long to have a crack, but Norwich keeper John Ruddy dived to his right to palm his low drive round a post.

City's Robert Snodgrass replied with an effort on the turn but couldn't force Lindegaard into a save.

Snodgrass and Wes Hoolahan combined to send Pilkington away down the left but he ended up firing across goal and wide.

United won a succession of free-kicks outside the Norwich box – but one move saw van Persie blast well wide and Ruddy saved from Ashley Young from another.

BLANK: Van Persie

Block

Young's corner might have led to a United opener but Patrice Evra, having got goal side of his marker, completely missed his header.

Snodgrass headed a Norwich reply wide before Javier Garrido fired an angled effort across goal and beyond Grant Holt at the back post.

There was an even better chance for Holt when Snodgrass got the better of Rio Ferdinand on the right, but Chris Smalling was there to make an excellent block.

Suddenly, there was an opportunity for van Persie at the other end but, although Ryan Giggs picked him out, the Dutch master completely missed his kick.

Ruddy had to dive to keep out Young's shot.

Van Persie failed to connect with another ball over the top, but he kept on going and eventually forced Ruddy into a save.

There was an anxious moment for Lindegaard at the other end when he failed to punch away a high ball, but United scrambled it clear.

Pilkington headed Norwich ahead on the hour in superb fashion.

Hoolahan fed Garrido on the left and his tempting cross was perfect for Pilkington to get across Smalling and angle his header high past Lindegaard.

On came Paul Scholes and Danny Welbeck for Antonio Valencia and Javier Hernandez with 20 minutes remaining.

Welbeck saw a header deflected just wide and another saved as United camped round the Norwich box.

HE'S GOT MO-MENTUM: Moustachioed Walcott salutes the crowd after slotting in Arsenal's fifth

HERO: Adebayor puts Spurs in front

ZERO: And then gets sent off

By IAN WINROW

EMMANUEL ADEBAYOR is a hate figure at the Emirates – but he should be a hero to Arsenal supporters after his horror show yesterday.

The forward wound up the home fans when he put Spurs in front against his old club in an emotionally-charged north London derby.

But then Adebayor lost it and launched an ugly lunge on Santi Cazorla to earn a 19th-minute red card – and from that point Tottenham crumbled.

Arsenal steamrollered their way to victory with Per Mertesacker, Lukas Podolski and Olivier Giroud firing them into a healhty half-time lead.

Cazorla and Theo Walcott completed the crushing win, with Gareth Bale nicking one back.

Adebayor was the fall guy – but there is no doubt Arsene Wenger was the beneficiary of the striker's madness.

Gunners manager Wenger was feeling the heat in the build-up to the game. But he received a big lift with a one-sided win over Arsenal's fiercest rivals.

Scars

Spurs chief Andre Villas-Boas had spoken before the game about exploiting Arsenal's nerves at the Emirates.

And his team selection made it clear they were going to get at the Gunners from the off.

AVB paired Jermain Defoe and Adebayor for the first time in a Premier League clash this season.

And the plan worked like a dream for 19 minutes before Adebayor lost his cool.

Arsenal had been left shell-shocked at the end of their last home outing against Fulham when they threw away a two-goal lead.

And their reaction in the opening minutes suggested they were still carrying the scars of that setback.

Spurs went for the jugular and Arsenal were reeling.

William Gallas thought he'd made the breakthrough in the eighth minute when he pounced on Tom Huddlestone's deflected shot but the effort was rightly ruled out for offside.

But Spurs had shown how

WEST BROM 2
CHELSEA 1

ROBERTO DI MATTEO had his eye on Chelsea's big Champions League date away to Juventus – but ended up getting one in the eye from his old club.

Strike buddies Shane Long and Peter Odemwingie bounced the Baggies up into fourth place as Chelsea's hopes of mounting a credible title challenge this season took another knock.

Di Matteo only had himself to blame after leaving FIVE players who may well start in Turin on Tuesday on the bench.

Albion couldn't believe their luck and made their former boss pay – though they needed some late heroics from keeper Boaz Myhill.

Long was Chelsea's early tormentor. The striker drifted away from dozy David Luiz to nod in James Morrison's far-post cross after 10 minutes.

And Long had the Blues in panic again when he almost reached Billy Jones' centre.

Shrugged

He was denied by a lunge from Gary Cahill and looked for a penalty after he was bundled to the ground.

The Ireland striker almost had his revenge when he shrugged off Cahill but fired wide.

Chelsea nearly went ahead after seven minutes when Cahill's shot was scrambled off the line by Liam Ridgewell. But they didn't trouble Albion again until Daniel Sturridge's effort was saved by Myhill half an hour later.

Their feeble efforts prompted frusrated travelling Chelsea fans to chant: "Attack, attack, attack."

They got their wish when Eden Hazard ghosted in to head home Cesar Azpilicueta's cross.

Sturridge went close again but the Baggies got the crucial goal when Long (right) crossed for Odemwingie to head in.

Sub Juan Mata set up Sturridge but Myhill saved well.

Chelsea poured forward and Sturridge had two further chances, but was denied by Myhill and then shot wide of the target.

flaky the Arsenal backline is and they exposed the Gunners' soft underbelly two minutes later when Adebayor hit the target.

All it took was a routine ball lofted forward by Jan Vertonghen to unpick the home defence, with Defoe speeding beyond the flat-footed Mertesacker. When Wojciech Szczesny could only palm the ball into Adebayor's path, the Togo striker had the easiest of chances to score.

Arsenal were reeling but they were handed a route back into the game when Adebayor lunged into a crazy challenge on Cazorla. Referee Howard Webb took his time before selecting his red card.

That transformed the game and Arsenal were suddenly given a huge lift.

And it took them just seven minutes to cancel out Spurs' advantage when Mertesacker made up for his earlier blunder.

Walcott took a ball from Jack Wilshere and beat Kyle Naughton before floating over the perfect cross for Mertesacker to rise unhindered before heading home. Tottenham were quickly forced to develop a siege mentality as Arsenal turned up the heat.

Hugo Lloris, unexpectedly selected ahead of Brad Friedel, saved twice from Giroud headers.

But the France keeper was beaten three minutes before the break when Podolski's shot deflected off Gallas and inside the far post.

Giroud then made it three on the stroke of half-time, turning home first time from Cazorla's cross.

And Arsenal cranked through the gears after the break with Cazorla getting a deserved goal after being teed up by Podolski.

Bale gave Spurs hope with a 72nd-minute strike after cutting in from the left and firing past Szczesny.

But there was no way back for Spurs and Walcott completed the win in added time.

MISSION: Luis Suarez

Red-hot Suarez gives Kop rare treat

LIVERPOOL 3
WIGAN 0

LUIS SUAREZ continued his one-man mission to save Liverpool's season with a killer double blast.

The controversial Kop ace has now scored 13 times for the struggling Reds this campaign – and that was unlucky for Roberto Martinez's Latics.

More importantly, he's now netted an amazing 10 of the 17 goals Brendan Rodgers' men have scored in the league this season.

Two minutes after the break, Jean Beausejour's lame back pass played in winger Raheem Sterling who dragged the ball back.

And Suarez did the rest with a lethal finish from six yards, meaning he's hit the target in Liverpool's last five games.

After 58 minutes, Jose Enrique powered forward from the halfway line and slipped a slide-rule pass between Gary Caldwell and Maynor Figueroa.

Again, there was no doubt where the ball was going to end up as Suarez blasted in from 12 yards.

Survive

The Uruguayan might have snatched a hat-trick with another couple of threatening efforts.

But it was all over when Sterling's shot was charged down by Wigan keeper Ali Al-Habsi and Enrique tapped in.

Wigan, who won for the first time ever at Anfield last March, had been forced to survive a buzzing first half from the Kop club.

Suso unleashed a terrific 20-yard thunder-bolt which Al-Habsi saved with a spectacular twist.

Both sides were knocked out of their stride when injuries forced them into subs before the break – Wigan losing the influential Ben Watson and Liverpool the lively Suso with an ankle problem.

After going three down, Wigan tried to save some face but Glen Johnson might have made it four with a marauding run from halfway but his low shot thudded just wide.

Suarez could have had the last word when his drive whistled just wide of the far post.

SPARKY ON BRINK AFTER SAINTS GO MARCHING ON

MARK HUGHES' QPR career is hanging by a thread after Saints easily beat his poor QPR side.

Without a win all season, Sparky was under severe pressure before the match and a dire performance against fellow Premier League strugglers could be the final nail in his coffin.

Southampton manager Nigel Adkins was also under scrutiny but strikes from Rickie Lambert, Jason Puncheon and an Anton Ferdinand own goal secured his future for another week at least.

Adam Lallana was an early threat as he volleyed jut over the bar and was inches away from poking in Puncheon's cross – which hit the outside of the post. Adel Taarabt and Junior Hoilett forced Paulo Gazzaniga into straight forward saves before Southampton took a deserved lead on 23 minutes.

Misery

QPR failed to clear a corner and when Jose Fonte's shot hit Puncheon, Lambert was on hand to head home his fifth of the season.

Puncheon inflicted more misery before half-time as he cut inside Alejandro Faurlin too easily and curled into the bottom corner. Needing inspiration, Hughes sent on Jamie Mackie for Faurlin at the break and QPR were back in the game three minutes later.

Saints' back four went to sleep and Hoilett was allowed to ghost in and head home Taarabt's cross.

Rangers briefly threatened an equaliser but Southampton and Puncheon always seemed the more likely to score.

Julio Cesar saved from Puncheon and Maya Yoshida's acrobatic effort – but soon Southampton wrapped up the three points.

QPR fell asleep at a corner and Ferdinand deflected Morgan Schneiderlin's cross into his own net.

Cisse anger at Toon ban

PAPISS CISSE is ready to quit as Senegal captain after they stopped him playing for Newcastle.

Toon boss Alan Pardew was ordered to leave the 27-year-old out by FIFA after the Senegal FA invoked the "five-day rule" when the player didn't report for midweek international duty due to a back injury.

Newcastle released a statement saying they were "dismayed and angry" and implied the African nation were after revenge for Toon's refusal to allow Cisse to play at the Olympics.

Cisse said: "I love playing for my country and would only withdraw for a genuine reason.

"I am sorry that the Federation seem to doubt my honesty and integrity.

"I will now consider if I wish to continue to captain my country."

Red card to zero striker goes from hero in derby day shocker

ADEBYE-BYE: The striker sees red after (above) bagging Spurs' opener

ARSENAL 5
TOTTENHAM 2

EMMANUEL ADEBAYOR gave Spurs the perfect start – then handed his old team victory on a plate.

The former Gunner was public enemy No.1 at the Emirates when he fired Tottenham into the lead.

But the Arsenal fans' jeers turned to cheers when he was given a straight red card for a crude lunge on Santi Cazorla in the 19th minute.

From that point on it was Arsenal in full control as goals from Per Mertesacker, Lukas Podolski, Olivier Giroud, Cazorla and Theo Walcott gave them an easy derby day victory.

Walcott said: "We showed a few people how good we are today and everyone knows we're strong in the dressing room.

"It's going to give us tremendous spirit.
